HOOVER REPEATS
CALL FOR ACTION
BY CONGRESS TO BALANCE BUDGET

President Declares Motive
Is Not Partisan and Denounces "Locust Swarms" of Lobbyists Seeking Selfish Privilege.

ASSAILED IN DEBATE
BY THE OPPOSITION

Byrns Asks Why Executive
Did Not Cut Own Estimates — "Indictment of Administration" — Criticized by McKellar.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—President Hoover, in a fighting mood,
today called again for a speedy balancing of the budget through the enactment of a reasonable revenue
bill and a reduction of Federal expenditures.

In a formal statement read to congressmen, the President declared the need of the country in this "serious hour" should not be clouded by a partisan issue.

"This is not a controversy between the President and Congressmen," he asserted with emphasis.
"It is an issue of the people against delays and destructive legislation which impairs the credit of the United States."

The President smiled as newsmen entered his office but grew stern when he began reading
after the last word of his statement, he snapped:

"That is all."

His plea today for speed was the first of many such statements direct to the country to be issued by him, seeking to consolidate the overwhelming weight of public opinion in favor of prompt budget balancing.

The President today struck vehemently at what he called "the locust swarms of lobbyists who want the halls of Congress seeking selfish privilege."

President's Statement.
The President's statement follows:

"The issue before the country
is the re-establishment of confidence and speed toward recon-fidence by ending these delays in balancing the budget through immediate passage of revenue measures and reduction of Government expenditures. It is not a partisan issue. This was one of the most important steps of the non-partisan program for restoring stability proposed by me and patriotically accepted by the leaders of both political parties
last December. Effective legislation for both economy and revenue have been presented and are known in every department."

"This is not a controversy between the President and Congressmen. It is an issue of the people against delays and destructive legislation which impairs the credit of the United States. It is also an issue between the people and the locust swarms of lobbyists
who want the halls of Congress seeking special privilege for themselves and sections of the country, misleading members as to the real views of the people by showers of propaganda."

"What is urgently required is immediate action upon and consideration of these questions. This is a serious hour which demands that all elements of the Government and the people rise with courage above partisanship to meet the needs of our national life."

Assailed by Opposition on Yesterday's Message.
The message of Mr. Hoover yesterday demanding that Congress balance the budget and accusing the House of undermining public confidence aroused both houses to action.

The message is generally regarded in Washington as the most forceful he has sent to Congress.
Representative Byrns of Tennessee, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, said in the House today that that branch had not the President's requests for appropriations by $161,455,101 in addition to passing the $42,000,000
economy bill.

Challenge on Estimates.
Another Tennessee Democrat,
Senator McKellar, challenged a statement by the President that the budget estimates had been $269,- 000,000 under those of last year amounting to $2,000,000,000 for 1932.

6 DEMONSTRATORS SHOT
BY POLICE IN CHICAGO SUBURB

Fifty Arrested At Meeting In Melrose Park
Called to Protest Against Brutality
By Officers.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, May 6.—Six men were wounded by police machine gun fire on the principal thoroughfare
of suburban Melrose Park today, when they resisted police orders to break up a demonstration.

Two were shot in the head and four received leg wounds. They refused to give their names.

The meeting was called by the International Labor Defense and the Unemployed Council as a protest against alleged police brutality.
A parade of jobs to the doors of the suburban police station on May day had been driven back and Tom McKenna, secretary of the Chicago Civil Liberties Committee, was seriously beaten and thrown in-
to a creek by four slugs when he went to make bond for the men arrested May day.

Nearly 50 men were arrested after the riot today.

The meeting was first scheduled for a hall in the adjoining suburb
of Bellwood, but the men, warned

not to gather there, marched to the hall in Melrose Park at Lake street and Twenty-third.

Police of the suburbs of Maywood, Melrose Park and Bellwood went to the hall and State and county highway officers reinforced them.

Orders to the demonstrators to disperse met with resistance. Shots were fired and the police, leveling their machine-gun low at the legs of the crowd, fired.

Clubs were swung and the Fire Department hurried in and turned streams of water on the rioters.

Between 700 and 800 persons participated in the meeting when the fighting began. Nearly 80 policemen and firemen were mobilized to disperse them.

The five wounded men were taken to the Westlake. Hospital in Maywood where all inquiries as to their condition were referred to the police.

The men refused to give their names or to answer questions of police or attendants it was said.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, May 6.—A Federal grand jury today heard evidence on charges that Gaston B.
Means received $100,000 on false representations that he could return the kidnapped Lindbergh baby and will announce next Tuesday
whether an indictment will be returned.

Mrs. Edward B. McLean, estranged wife of the publisher of the Washington Post, who said she gave Means the money, was one of the three chief witnesses. The testimony was heard within an hour.

The others were Nelson H. Harrison, an attorney for Mrs. McLean, and Gustave Grifoni, an Italian butler who had served her for 20 years.

Harrison said Grifoni was present when Mrs. McLean is supposed to have turned over the money to Means.

"Going Through With It."
As she went into the jury room,
Mrs. McLean told newspaper men:
"This is distasteful, of course, but I am going through with it," on her behalf, Harrison added: "She knew, undoubtedly, Means' record
all the time, but she certainly believed he would come through in this case."

Leo A. Rover, United States attorney, asked the grand jury to indict Means for larceny after trust.
Mrs. McLean was stylishly dressed in a black satin frock with a shiny straw hat and fur to match.
J. Edgar Hoover, Chief of the Justice Department's Bureau of Investigation, and John M. Keith, an employee, conferred with Rover just before the hour set for the grand jury meeting.

The Rev. Francis J. Hurney, pastor of a Catholic church, and George W. White, president of the Metropolitan National Bank of Washington, are among those expected to testify in the case. Mrs.
McLean said yesterday she conferred with Father Hurney during the negotiations and he has said he saw Mrs. McLean give the money to Means.

Admits Getting $100,000.
Meanwhile, standing in the runway before his cell in the District of Columbia jail, Means told newspaper men that he had been engaged by Mrs. McLean at a retainer of $100 a day and expenses to bring about the child's return and that he had been given $100,- 000 to turn over to the kidnappers.

He added that this sum was given to a mysterious "Number 11," whom he described as a supposedly sane woman, Mrs. McLean, after she had become convinced that his efforts to return the baby were fruitless and had demanded return of the money.

Means declined to answer all questions concerning the whereabouts of the child with the statement, "Now, that's confidential."
He stood behind the bars in his shirt sleeves with collar opened.

Before the Lindbergh case,
Means said, he made investigations
for Mrs. McLean in Palm Beach and other places. "He praised her as a 'very fine woman and very motherly.'"

"I didn't solicit employment in this case," he added. "She came for me."

He said that when Mrs. McLean approached him he explained he would do nothing until permission
had been obtained from Col.
Charles A. Lindbergh, father of the kidnaped baby.

Means emphasized there was no
"larceny" involved, adding that
"not at any time was any money given to me by Mrs. McLean disturbed in any way."

Arrest No Surprise.
He said his arrest was no surprise since he had been in the April 22 that if he "didn't do this and that" he was to be indicted.
He apparently referred to demands by attorneys for Mrs. McLean for return of the money. He said if he had known the warrant had been issued for him he would have surrendered.

While the grand jury investigation was in progress, Hoover told newspaper men:

"We are still investigating. The disposition of the money is a part of that investigation. Whether there will be other arrests I cannot say."

A search warrant was issued today.

PRESIDENT OF FRANCE
CRITICALLY WOUNDED
BY RUSSIAN ASSASSININCOME SCHEDULE IS CHANGED AGAIN
TO TOP OF 45 PCT.

Senate Committee, After Hearing Mills Adopts Normal Rate of 3 Pct. on First $4000.

INCREASES ON AUTOS, TRUCKS, MALT, WORT

'Luxury' Levies on Jewelry
Furs, Toilet Articles, Cameras, Matches, Soft Drinks Are Eliminated.

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON.
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—The Senate Finance Committee, responding to a last-minute appeal
from Treasury Secretary Ogden Mills, today made further drastic changes in the new revenue bill,
the effect of which would be to increase the burden on moderate incomes, while reducing the proposed taxes on the upper brackets.

Thus, on Mills' insistence, the committee revised its surtax rates to make the scale culminate in a top rate of 45 per cent on income in excess of $10,000 a year, instead of the 55 per cent rate adopted yesterday. In addition, it abolished the penalty for corporations making consolidated returns, and authorized corporations to carry over losses for a period of one year
in making deductions.

Although the Secretary expressed himself as satisfied with the drastic increases voted yesterday in the normal income tax rate—namely,
4 per cent on the first $4000 of net income and 1 per cent on all above that amount—the committee decided, after reducing the surtax
rates, to make a slight adjustment
in the normal rates. Accordingly, it settled on 3 per cent for the first $4000, 6 per cent for the next $4000 and 9 per cent for all above that.

Moreover, the committee voted to retain the present 25 per cent
deduction for earned income,
which the House had reduced to 15 per cent.

Some Drastic Increases.
On the other hand, drastic increases were made in the rates on automobiles, trucks, accessories, lubricating oil, malt and wort, and the exemption on the admission
tax was reduced to 10 cents.

The so-called "luxury taxes" on jewelry, furs, toilet articles, boats,
mechanical refrigerators, firearms,
sporting goods, cameras, matches,
soft drinks and safe deposit boxes were eliminated from the bill, as was the tax on produce exchange transactions.

Mills, emerging triumphantly
from the committee room, predicted that the bill as revised by the committee up to that time, would produce a total of $1,025,000,000 in new yearly revenue, which would meet the Treasury's approximate needs. Indications were that the committee measure would reach the Senate floor Monday or Tuesday.

There, however, it must run the gauntlet again, and Progressives are preparing to make a strenuous fight for higher taxes on large licenses and inheritances. Moreover, a coalition of Progressives
and Democrats will seek vigorously to eliminate the tariffs on oil, gasoline, coal, copper and lumber.

Mills' "Peace Offering."
Although Mills described the bill
"not as a Treasury program, but as a peace offering," it was obvious that his views had prevailed to an unexpected extent. His principal salience was on his attempt to increase the taxes on tobacco (except cigars). He also urged a somewhat higher tax on automobiles
than that adopted by the committee.

It was learned after adjournment that Mills had again warned the committee that the proposed high taxes on wealth would drive it into tax-exempt securities and other devices for evading taxes. After the committee acceded to his demand for a reduction in the surtax
rates, however, Senator Couzens, Michigan Independent, put on such a storm that the committee voted to drop the increase.

Mrs. Law said Miss Chambers was

Miss Chambers said, and released

Mrs. Law had urged the maid

soon after her arrival, she began to wash the windows. Mrs. Law told her, she said, that she never had required her maid to wash the windows and would employ a man

sisted that the windows needed cleaning and that she would take care of them.

Miss Chambers had been em-

$2,000,000 FIRE
ON NEW YORK PIER
OF CUNARD LINE

Blaze Burning 8 Hours Still Out of Control — 150 Fighters Overcome or Injured.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, May 6.—Damage
estimated at more than $2,000,000
was done at the giant Cunard Line Pier at Thirtieth street and the Hudson River today by a fire which at first seemed so trifling that its discoverers didn't even bother to turn in an alarm.

Approximately 150 firemen were overcome by smoke or otherwise incapacitated and more than eight hours after the fire began it was still out of control and spreading despite all efforts of one of the largest fire fighting armies called out in years.

The fire started about 6 o'clock
this morning in rubbish which had collected under the steel and concrete structure which stretches 1000 feet into the Hudson on cre-cote soaked piles. When the first faint wisps of smoke were seen by pier watchmen an attempt was made to extinguish the tiny blaze
by amateur methods. The oil-soaked wood of the piles offered an easy path for the flames, however, and the watchmen soon saw they would need help. Even then, though, they only telephoned to the fire department. Soon afterward fire apparatus from all over the city began converging on the pier.

By that time dense smoke rolled across the Hudson and the lower
city and the crecote soaked piles
were like a hundred torches shooting flame 50 feet into the air. In mid-afternoon the fire was still out of control and had spread to an adjoining pier at Twelfth street and to a two-story office structure connecting these two piers and a third one.

It was reported there was $500,- 000 of pig tin stored in crates at the end of the pier.

At mid-afternoon the whole center section of the concrete floor of the pier fell into the river with a great roar of rising steam.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, May 6.—Paul Doumer, 75-year-old President of the French Republic, was shot twice and dangerously wounded today by an assassin identified as a "white" Russian, as Doumer was opening an exhibition of books by war veterans.

Two blood transfusions and a trepanning operation were performed immediately and the doctors held some hope that he would recover, but they said the situation was very grave.

At 8:30 tonight a third transfusion was performed. Loss of blood from a severed artery under his arm was causing the doctors considerable concern. Budget Minister Pietri said at 8:45
that the President was getting a light sleep.

Bulletin by Doctors.
An official bulletin issued tonight said that two bullets entered the President's body. One of them crossed the region at the base of the skull and came out on a level with the right cheek bone,
while the other entered at the level of the armpit and came out behind the shoulder, causing a heavy hemorrhage.

At 6 p. m., when the patient's shock had been ameliorated by several blood transfusions, the surgeons tried the axillary artery,
which had been completely severed.

The official bulletin said the President's temperature was 37.3
centigrade (99.14 Fahrenheit)
and his pulse 120. His condition was said still to be grave.

The police hammered at the assassin until they learned that he was Paul Gouguloff, that he had come here from Monaco especially to kill Doumer and that his motive was revenge for the French refusal to intervene in Russia against the Bolsheviks.

In Rothschild Foundation Hall.
Doumer had come from the Elysee Palace with Claude Farrere, novelist. Together they entered the grand hall of the Baron de Rothschild Foundation, near the palace.

Farrere walked with him up the grand staircase, where the President, paused to sign a copy of a book by a contemporary author.
Then the President moved over to a table and stood talking with Farrere and Mme. Farrere.

Suddenly, a man sprang out,
leveled a pistol at the President and fired five times.

Someone heard him shout as he fired: "Die for the Fatherland."
Doumer crumpled to the floor.
Farrere sprang forward. The

SAYS 1000 BANKERS WERE IN SYNDICATE

Difficult to See How Action
Differed From That of a Bull Market Pool, He Asserts.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, May 6.—The purchase of German reparation bonds by the firm in which Richard Whitney, president of the New York Stock Exchange, is a member to support the market while the bonds were being sold was criticized yesterday in a statement by David Stock, assistant counsel for the Senate Banking Committee. Emphasizing that he was speaking as an individual and not as an official of the committee, Stock compared the action of Whitney's firm with manipulation of the market which he pointed out Whitney said was a violation of stock exchange rules.

Whitney testified in the committee's stock market investigation that his firm bought $2,000,000 of German reparation bonds on the order of a syndicate headed by J. P. Morgan, which was selling the bonds to the public. "It is difficult to see wherein the support of a security at a price higher than it would ordinarily go to, in order to sell it to the public, differs from the manipulation of a bull market pool which has the same purpose," Stock said. "If the bonds are worth what they are sold at, why should they be supported? If a group of lead pencil manufacturers should get together and conspire to sell their product at a certain price, they would be held in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law. Yet, over 1000 bankers combined in this syndicate of German reparation bonds for the very same purpose."

Stock said "the time has come for the investors in this country to realize that they must accept another step in the evolution of the ethics of their profession in the face of the overwhelming public demand."

Senate Investigator Begins Inquiry Into Chicago Dealings.
CHICAGO, May 6.—Senatorial investigation of bear stock market operations switched to Chicago yesterday with the arrival of W. H. Baldwin, chief investigator for the Senate subcommittee looking into brokerage accounts. Baldwin admitted he was here to scrutinize dealings of large Chicago operators, but said he would not investigate bear trading in grains on the Board of Trade.

Arthur W. Cutten and Thomas M. Howell, whose names were brought out in testimony regarding the Wall Street market, are among large operators having their headquarters here.

It is reported that records of nearly a dozen prominent Chicago brokerage houses have been subpoenaed.

CHICAGO GANGSTERS RUSHING TO PAY U. S. INCOME TAXES

$1,000,000 Collected Since Government Campaign Began, Prosecutor Announces.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, May 6.—Chicago gangsters are rushing to the Federal Building to pay taxes on their incomes, apparently to escape the state of Al Capone and others.

United States Attorney Johnson said yesterday that since the Government campaign against gangsters had begun, more than $1,000,000 has been remitted in income taxes by gamblers, racketeers, liquor dealers and other hoodlums.

The conviction of Ralph Capone, brother of Al, Johnson said, started the rush. Recently one gambler paid a tax of $235,000, another $200,000 and a well-known racketeer $95,000.

In addition to the gain from fines, the Government is also selling the real estate of convicted gangsters to collect taxes due.

Homes of Terry Druggan and Frankie Lake, now at Leavenworth, have been disposed of, and may bring nearly $200,000.

How "Dollar Stabilization" Bill Would Affect Monetary System

Worth of Dollar Would Be Reduced to Man Who Has It—Federal Reserve Supposed to Maintain Value.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, May 6.—It remains for the Senate to pass the Goldborough "dollar stabilization" bill and the President to sign it to subject the monetary system of the United States to what some of its critics term one of the most revolutionary changes in the financial history of the country. In short it would become mandatory upon the Federal Treasury and the Federal Reserve System to fix and maintain the value of currency, if that could be done. The House passed the bill by 239 to 60 on the clear-cut issue that the purchasing power of the dollar should be arbitrarily maintained at the 1913-19 average. It was an indirect way of saying that the Government shall set its hand to the business of making raw and processed commodities worth more money. Actually, the value of the dollar to him who has it would be reduced. Enhancement would accrue to those who had labor, services or products to sell.

Theoretically, the consumer would spend more dollars for pork and shirts and handbags but the farmer would get more of them for his hogs and cotton and cows. As the bill goes to the Senate the Federal Reserve Board would be directed to raise or lower discount rates to make money dearer or cheaper as it went below or above commodity values. Toward the same end it would be instructed to contract or expand the flow of currency and to tighten or ease credit conditions by selling or also to lower slightly the normal rates on moderate incomes.

Estimates of Yield.
Committee experts estimated that the new income tax rates would yield about $150,000,000 a year more than the present rates. As the bill stands, the corporate tax rate is 14 per cent, with no exemption, but no penalty for consolidated returns. It is estimated to yield $52,000,000 a year more.

The bill now provides for a tax of 4 per cent on the sale price of passenger automobiles, 2 per cent for the investor and 1 per cent on accessories, with tires excluded. It is expected to produce $73,000,000 of new yearly revenue.

To the surprise of everyone on the outside, the committee voted to put an import duty of 5 cents a pound on crude rubber, although the discovery that there already is a year's supply in the country had caused committee members to declare earlier this week that such a duty would produce no revenue, but would allow the owners of the stored supply to double their prices.

Taxing of Worts and Malt.
The bill now provides for the taxing of wort at the rate of 15 cents a gallon, malt syrup at 3 cents a pound and grape concentrates at 20 cents a gallon. These levies are expected to yield a total of $97,000,000 a year.

Mills estimated that the lowering of the exemption on admission taxes to 10 cents, with a flat rate of 10 per cent above that level, would provide for $110,000,000 more revenue.

Tax on Salary Bonus.
By an 8-to-7 vote, the committee added a provision to the bill imposing a tax of 50 per cent on bonus salary payments to corporation executives. The proposal was sponsored by Senator Gore (Dem.), Oklahoma.

It was decided to have banks collect from accounts the 2 cents charge on bank checks.

FIVE HURT IN AUTO UPSET

St. Louis Paris Injured in Accident Near Steelville, Mo.

Five persons were injured today when an automobile they occupied ran off the road near Steelville, Mo., and overturned. The injured are Mr. and Mrs. Harry F. Block, 6250 Knight avenue; Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Ikemeier, 5593 Barmer avenue; and Miss Katherine Casey, also of the Barmer avenue address. Mrs. Block, Mrs. Ikemeier and Miss Casey are sisters. The injured persons were taken to the Frisco Hospital here. Miss Casey, an assistant buyer for the Scruggs-Vandervoort-Barney Dry Goods Co., suffered a broken left arm and an injury to her back. Block suffered chest and knee injuries and Ikemeier, scalp lacerations. Mrs. Block and Mrs. Ikemeier suffered bruises. Block is a traveling freight and passenger agent for the Frisco Lines and Ikemeier a salesman. Steelville is 95 miles southwest of St. Louis.

U. S. STEEL PAY, SLASHED 10 PCT., CUT AGAIN 15 PCT.

$40,000,000 Annual Saving Estimated—Corporation's Stock Goes Higher on News of Reduction.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, May 6.—The United States Steel Corporation today announced that its employing wages and salaries would be cut about 15 per cent, effective May 15.

This is the second wage reduction by the company during the present depression. The first, amounting to 10 per cent, was made Oct. 1.

Reports that this means of further reducing costs was being considered had been heard in financial circles for some time, gaining strength after the corporation's direct last week omitted dividends on the common stock and reported an operating deficit of more than $13,000,000 for the first quarter of 1932.

A statement issued by the corporation said: "Effective May 15, the United States Steel Corporation and subsidiary companies will reduce by approximately 15 per cent all wages and salaries paid at all departments in the more important steel districts and in other locations to rates reflecting equitable differentials."

The company made three wage reductions during the 1921 business depression.

Stocks of the steel corporation, which had been advancing with the general market, moved vigorously upward when the news came. The common shares climbed more than $3 above yesterday's close, while the preferred issue jumped about $10.

The payroll for 1931 totaled $258,871,415, so that a 15 per cent reduction, on that basis, would effect an annual saving of about $40,000,000. As a result of part time operations, however, the total payroll is understood to be substantially less than the level of a year ago. The total payroll for 1931, furthermore, was roughly $124,000,000 under that of 1930.

The corporation did not give the number of persons currently on its payroll, but the total is understood in steel quarters to be about 130,000.

The annual report showed a total in the final quarter of 1931 of 132,450 persons, of which 146,482 were on part time. The working force at that time was described as at 78 per cent of "normal." The company has been endeavoring to maintain as many workers as possible through staggering the work on a part time basis. Production for several months has been around one-quarter of capacity.

Hoover Repeats Budget Action Demand

Reconstruction Finance Corporation. He said the recommendations of the President actually were $278,549,466 above those for last year.

Byrnes said the President's message yesterday told the Congress it ought to cut the estimates $700,000,000.

"I say there has never been a greater indictment of the President, of his administration, of his own message," he continued. "He sent the estimates up to Congress last December and now he tells us we ought to cut them."

"When you talk about emasculating the economy bill, as the President did, no man in all these United States was more responsible than the President of the United States," Byrnes said.

He added that consolidation of the Army and Navy would have saved $50,000,000 or more, even though the secretaries of those departments said it would not and opposed it.

Recalls Visit of Hoover Aid.
"Who was it that defeated that consolidation?" Byrnes asked. "I ask every member of this house if it is not a fact that a secretary of the President was here on the floor of the House two or three days last week buttonholing members of his party to vote against it."

Walter Newton, one of the President's secretaries and a former Representative, was present during a part of the consideration of the economy bill.

Byrnes said that the "big majority is a plurality of five votes," and Republican members did not vote for some provisions suggested by the President.

Says Hoover Sat Still.
Byrnes said Hoover "sat still" for three years while the House was controlled by Republicans, "when he knew a crisis was at hand, as everybody else knew."

He added, "Whereas duty was it, of all, to sound the warning? He did not sound any alarm during the last Congress."

"Did anyone call attention to the fact that we were heading into the greatest deficit we ever had in peace time?"

McKellar said that instead of a tax program burdensome on the people, "such a cloud of lobbyists descended on the House, so shipping companies should be discontinued, refunds of wartime taxes stopped and the $500,000,000 capital of the Reconstruction Corporation be provided by bonds rather than out of current income."

The refunding of wartime taxes he described as "nothing in the world but legalized graft."

Schafer (Rep.), Wisconsin, demanded the resignation of Chairman Byrnes. He accused the Democratic leaders of "gross ignorance and inability" to "do anything constructive."

Byrnes, Schafer said, "In the name of decency should resign as chairman of the Appropriations Committee and the Democratic party should insist upon it."

Creation of a committee of five to plan reorganization of the executive branches of the Government was proposed today in an amendment to the House economy bill introduced by Senator Logan (Dem.), Kentucky.

Criticism by Rainey.
The Democratic leader of the House, Rainey of Illinois, charged in debate yesterday that the message was the President's "first speech in his campaign for reelection." The Senate Democratic leader, Robinson of Arkansas, said the plighted Congress found itself in never would have developed if the administration had not made unaccountable errors in presenting estimates, and that not general advice but specific suggestions were required.

Representative Snell, Republican House leader, said campaign material or not the Democrats would "have to answer" for the present situation.

Senator Reed (Rep.) of Pennsylvania told Robinson the definite suggestions had been presented often enough, but that Congressional courage was lacking. In discussing debate he observed that "if this country ever needed a Mussolini, it needs it now."

"I am not proposing that we make Mr. Hoover a Mussolini," he went on, "but if we are going to have economies they must be made by somebody who will make the order and stand by it."

Borah inquired whether Reed wanted the Mussolini statement to stand. The reply was that the country needs courage.

In a dramatic attack upon Reed, who sat near by, Johnson (Rep.) of California pointed his finger at the Pennsylvania declared:

"I understand as you understand that democracy sometimes moves slowly. But democracy represents something bigger, something finer, nobler and greater than that which is represented by any dictator on the face of the earth. I deny America needs now or at any other time a Mussolini."

"To proclaim a Mussolini is but to echo the cry of every exploiter in this land. To claim that this nation needs a Mussolini is simply to ally ourselves with that class which believes that God created it superior to every other class and peculiarly endowed to rule the earth."

"Democracy is good enough for me. It ought to be good enough for you."

Reed Rakes Lobbyists.
Reed had said "obviously just" savings in payments to veterans were called for in the McDuffie economy bill presented to the House, but "such a cloud of lobbyists descended on the House, so strong was the pressure of the soldier lobbyists, that only about 25 per cent of the House dared to vote for that obviously just suggestion."

He said there "apparently wasn't courage enough."

Reed said that the bill for paying the soldiers' bonus with new money "is not going to pay a-3 the soldiers need have no cold chills about it."

Referring also to the Goldborough bill, passed by the House to provide for expansion of the currency, Reed said:

"We are not going to debate our currency in order to make prices seem higher and other countries might as well know it."

He joined with Robinson of Arkansas in saying America was not going to "debate her currency" or "fail to balance her budget."

Senator Lewis (Dem.), Illinois, told the Senate it could be "of no avail in carrying out any program of either the President or the Senate unless it has the respect of the American public and the support of its constituents."

Then he lashed out at the "Little Cabinet" of Assistant Secretaries of Government departments, who, he said, "are busy going about the United States to charge everything to what they call democracy."

Turning them "the little army who go about the country tooting and piping," Lewis continued: "If the President will have co-operation, let him as his first undertaking withdraw these little gentlemen who are the tifers and drummers of his brigade."

In his rejoinder to the President, Robinson of Arkansas charged it had been impossible during the last two administrations for Congress to get essential information.

He said that after the administration had made estimates that were "wrong by $500,000,000," it developed the estimate on which the $1,000,000,000 budget balancing plan rests "is based on the anticipation of a substantial improvement in business conditions which experience so far shows has not been realized nor can be expected immediately."

Wants Definite Proposals.
Robinson expressed willingness to grant the request for presidential authority to reorganize the Government.

"It would be helpful to have a recommendation as to how wholesale expansion can be accomplished and undue inflation avoided," he said at another point—and thundered: "The President's message is shot through with references favoring the elimination of political considerations in treating with questions, and by 'inference' contending they had been treated from a partisan standpoint."

"There has never been a time in the history of Congress when the opposition party has given such support in enacting legislation."

"It is necessary to balance the budget. To do so, I think it will be necessary that we reduce taxes that will prove very burdensome and will stimulate resentment against the Congress."

Reed said the country would be encouraged by Robinson's statement.

Pointing to the decline in the dollar on foreign exchange, the exportation of gold, and the rise in security markets, Reed said: "Why has that happened? Because we are not doing anything about it."

Rainey, in the House, promised an answer to the President's later date. McDuffie (Dem.), Alabama, asked Snell whether he were true "a secretary to the President" had been on the floor of the House during consideration of the economy bill soliciting support against a provision "that would have saved $50,000,000 to $100,000,000 a year."

Snell knew nothing about it, McDuffie asked if he had. Walter Newton, one of the President's secretaries, on the floor of the House, he had a perfect right to be on the floor," Snell replied.

McDuffie referred to the provision to consolidate the army and the navy, which was stricken from the bill.

"These suggestions came from the executive after the House acted on the economy bill," Rainey said.

Snell insisted there was "no single recommendation in this message which has not been made heretofore."

And besides, he is not to blame for the actions of the House," he added. "I believe, in fact I believe that the people on this (Republican) side of the House have more solidly for economy than those across the aisle."

Half a dozen Democrats were on their feet, shouting: "Who got into this condition?"

At that moment, the time which Snell had asked to answer Rainey had expired. The Speaker gavel banged, and the House adjourned.

As he left the Speaker's chair, Garner brushed newspapermen on one side and repeated several times: "I have nothing to say."

The story told by close associates of Mrs. McLean is this: Mrs. McLean originally approached Means early in March and out if he knew anything about the kidnapping. He said he thought he knew who had taken the child, a former colporteur at the Atlanta penitentiary had, just before the child was taken, proposed that Means join him in kidnapping a prominent woman on a fraudulent check to Aiken, S. by Man Who Is Sought.

By the Associated Press.
TOLEDO, O., May 6.—Miss Winifred Rafferty, 22 years old, died in the Robinwood Hospital here today after being found strangled to death in an exclusive residential section early yesterday. There had been a terrific struggle, after which the woman was assaulted.

Almost all of her clothing was torn off, the buttons were ripped from her coat, and her shoes had been thrown several feet. Police declined to the theory she was the victim of a madman.

The body was found by Richard Carr, son of W. C. Carr, banker, of the front lawn of his father's home, a short distance from the hospital. Miss Rafferty, a member of the Toledo Cross life saving corps, and a Toledo Knights of Columbus winning team, was returning to the hospital after attending a swimming class when she met her death. Police said the murder was committed between 10:10 p. m. and 11:30 a. m. They estimated the time from the fact that a heavy rainfall set in at 1:30 and that both of the young woman's shoes were filled with water.

Mrs. William Greer, her mother, said Miss Rafferty and other nurses had been annoyed several times by a man who gave evidence of weak-mindedness.

Miss Wanda Miller, roommate of Miss Rafferty, told police a young man had stopped Miss Rafferty near the hospital two weeks ago and made improper advances. The same young man had insisted he had been on occasions and had stopped both women at another time and asked them to accompany him, Miss Miller said.

The hospital is a residential building. No one in the neighborhood heard any outcry, as far as police could learn.

Body Found on Banker's Lawn, Clothing Ripped Off, Amid Signs of Terrible Struggle.

MANIAC'S CRIME, POLICE BELIEVE

Victim's Roommate Says Both of Them Had Been Approached and Annoyed by Man Who Is Sought.

TOLEDO, O., May 6.—Miss Winifred Rafferty, 22 years old, dietitian at the Robinwood Hospital, was found strangled to death in an exclusive residential section early today. There had been a terrible struggle, after which the woman was assaulted.

Almost all of her clothing was torn off, the buttons were ripped from her coat, and her shoes had been thrown several feet. Police believed to the theory she was the victim of a madman.

The body was found by Richard Carr, son of W. C. Carr, banker, on front lawn of his father's home, a short distance from the hospital. Police said the murder was committed between 10:10 p. m. and 11:30 p. m. They estimated the time from the fact that a heavy rainfall set in at 12:30 and that both of the woman's shoes were filled with water.

Miss William Greer, her mother, said Miss Rafferty and other nurses had been annoyed several times by a man who gave evidence of weakness. Miss Wanda Miller, roommate of Miss Rafferty, told police a young man had stopped Miss Rafferty near the hospital two weeks ago and made improper advances. The young man had insulted her on former occasions and had stopped both women at another time and asked them to accompany him, Miss Miller said.

The hospital is in a residential district. No one in the neighborhood heard any outcry, as far as police could learn.

At Rockville, Md., for the time of Means and Department of Justice agents left immediately to seek the $100,000.

Conviction of the offense with which Means is charged, authorized, might carry a sentence of ten years to life.

Wanted $25,000 More. Fox said today that Means had sought $25,000 from her in addition to the $100,000 already given to him and she refused to give it to him.

Fox said Means told her the kidnaper with whom he was dealing had $40,000 of marked money obtained from Lindbergh and the $100,000 would be sufficient to bring the baby to her, at El Paso, Tex., where she was at the time. He suggested that she pawn her jewelry to get the additional $40,000 and consulted her attorneys.

An extraordinary tale was unfolded by attorneys for Mrs. McLean and by two men who assisted her in negotiations through which Means allegedly got the money, led the prominent woman on a fruitless chase to Aiken, S. C., and to the Mexican border, and then failed to return either child or money.

Means was arrested by agents of the Department of Justice, after a secret investigation by a United States Commissioner he pleaded not guilty, bond was set at $100,000 and on failure to post it he was placed in jail.

Got Money in Cash. The story told by close associates of Mrs. McLean is this: Mrs. McLean originally approached Means early in March to find out if he knew anything about the kidnapping. He said he thought he knew who did take the child, as a former intimate at the Aiken penitentiary had just before the child was taken, proposed that Means join him in kidnapping a prominent baby. Means then said he had verified this connection and that the kidnappers demanded $100,000.

After conferring with Capt. Emory E. Land of the Navy, who is a friend of Col. Lindbergh, and Father Hurley, she turned over to Means $100,000 in $50 bills to Means in the presence of Father Hurley. Through Capt. Land she had advised Col. Lindbergh of her desire to help find the child and secured his approval. The money, however, was here and she had no contact with the kidnappers. Then Means joined them and said he was in contact with the kidnappers. Then

Woman Swindled of $100,000; Ex-Convict She Accuses

The painting of Mrs. Evelyn Walsh McLean is by Laszlo. On her breast is the great Hope diamond. GASTON B. MEANS (right) in custody of a Deputy United States Marshal after his latest arrest.

he said the infant was in Mexico and at his suggestion the group went to El Paso, Tex. Stories of more contacts with the kidnappers and their representatives were told her there, but finally Mrs. McLean became suspicious and left.

Asked for Return of Cash. In the middle of April she asked Means to return the money. He promised to do so, saying it was at his former home, Concord, N. C., and that he would have it here on April 21. That day, the account, Father Hurley was told by Means that while driving up with the money, he was signaled to halt by a man on the road near Alexandria, Va. This man gave him the code number used for communication between Means and Mrs. McLean, whereupon he turned over the money.

At this point Mrs. McLean called in the Justice Department. Its investigations went to work, and finally Means landed in jail. Father Hurley told newspaper men he had witnessed the transfer of money at Mrs. McLean's home. He issued the following statement:

"On Sunday, March 6, 1932, Mrs. Evelyn Walsh McLean told me that she was endeavoring to obtain the return of Col. Lindbergh's baby and that the intermediary engaged by her had brought a message from the alleged kidnappers demanding $100,000 for the return of the infant. She told me that the intermediary was Gaston Means."

"This appeared to me as reasonable, and I agreed willingly to associate myself with Mrs. McLean in her laudable effort to secure the return of the infant. She told me that the intermediary was Gaston Means."

"I knew in a general way of the unfavorable light in which he had appeared in the public press, but I felt that, perhaps, in this instance, he was acting in earnest, a feeling that was strengthened when he told me that if he could accomplish the return of this baby, it would mean the wiping out largely of his past and that he would begin life anew with a very favorable prospect of succeeding in business as an investigator."

"All through this case I worked with Mrs. McLean and Capt. Land of the Navy Department. I am sorry at the unhappy conclusion of the affair but I have no regret that I aided to the best of my ability Mrs. McLean in her very worthy endeavor to restore the child to its grieving mother."

Means first came to national attention as an alleged confidential agent of German Ambassador von Bernstorff and Capt. Boy-Ed of the German Secret Service, prior to America's entry into the World War. In 1917 he was indicted, tried and acquitted in Concord, N. C., of the murder of Mrs. Maude A. King, widow of a wealthy Chicagoan, whom he had been employed to shadow.

In 1921 he became a special agent of the Department of Justice and then a confidential aid to the late William J. Burns. He was a conspicuous witness in the Senate investigation of Harry M. Daugherty's administration of the Department of Justice. Later he was sentenced to the Atlanta penitentiary for a prohibition conspiracy and a case of attempted bribery. He came out in 1928 and published the lurid book "The Strange Death of President Harding," which since has been repudiated by his co-author.

Lindbergh Away From Home for a Week. By the Associated Press. HOPKINS, N. J., May 6.—A high official said Col. Charles A. Lindbergh had been absent from his home for more than a week and was still away on his mysterious mission. At least once during the week "The Strange Death of President Harding," which since has been repudiated by his co-author.

While in air of mystery pervaded the Lindbergh estate, the official said he believed the Colonel had been consistently establishing contact with the kidnappers of his son.

FRENCH PRESIDENT SHOT THREE TIMES BY RUSSIAN ASSASSIN

assassin's pistol was still in his hand. He raised it and fired twice. Farrere stopped with a bullet in the arm, but lunged forward again and grappled with the man.

Paul Guichard, director of the Paris police, ran forward. The assassin fired again. The bullet struck Guichard in the arm. By this time several policemen had surrounded the man and a crowd gathered about them.

As the crowd grew it became an infuriated mob. The police had the greatest difficulty in protecting their prisoner. At last they got him away.

Meanwhile, back in the exhibition room, Farrere and others bent over the President.

He was already nearly unconscious, but mumbled a few incoherent words as they lifted him, placed him on a stretcher and carried him to the Beaujon Hospital.

One of those who were first to reach the President's side said afterward he had heard Doumer whisper: "Pas possible."

In English, it would be: "This seems impossible."

The doctors there performed an operation immediately and there was a blood transfusion. A second transfusion was made at 5:20 p. m. Dr. Gossett performed a trepanning operation shortly before 6 o'clock. It was announced afterward that there was some hope that the President might recover.

At the hospital this statement was issued at 5:30 p. m.: "The President was struck twice by bullets, once at the base of the cranium and the other just under the right shoulder-blade."

"There was extensive hemorrhage and a pronounced state of shock."

"Two transfusions have been made."

"The situation is very grave."

The statement was signed by nine doctors.

At 6:45 p. m. the senior surgeon left the hospital after pronouncing the President's condition "very satisfactory."

No Vital Spots Struck. The President's nephew said chances now were largely a matter of his advanced age, since no vital spot had been struck. He said his uncle had shown some improvement in the last two hours.

This evening the Ministry of the Interior issued this statement: "Today at 3 o'clock President Doumer, during a visit to an exhibition by war veteran writers, was the victim of an attempt on his life by a Russian Anarchist, who appears to be not in full possession of his faculties."

"The President was struck by a bullet in the head and another in the shoulder which caused a flesh wound. He was taken to Beaujon Hospital where he received the attentive care of leading surgeons."

Statement by Assassins. Gougoloff told the police he was born a Cossack and two years ago had formed what he called the Society of Russian Fascists. He shot Doumer, he said, because he wanted revenge for the French refusal to intervene in Russia against the Bolsheviks.

Assassin's Plan in Notebook. From police headquarters came word that when they searched the assassin they found in his pocket a notebook with the phrase printed in pencil in letters an inch high: "This day I killed the President of the French Republic."

Premier Tardieu was the first man to reach the hospital after the news had gone about. Former Premier Caillaux arrived soon afterward, and then there was a stream of distinguished personages.

Mme. Doumer was grief-stricken when she reached the bedside. As the evening wore on and a crowd pressed about the hospital bits of news trickled out. The doctors disclosed that after the emergency operation, the patient had rallied slightly. "Ca va," he murmured, the doctors said. That means, "I'm all right."

If President Doumer should die, the Senate and the Chamber of Deputies would meet immediately to elect his successor.

Article VII of the French Constitutional laws provides for this procedure in the event that the presidency should become vacant for any cause.

Succession to Presidency. In the interval between the vacancy and the election the cabinet is invested with executive power. This procedure was followed in 1894 when President Sadi Carnot was assassinated at Lyons.

In the present case the election would be by the old Chamber of Deputies, although the terms of the members of that Chamber have expired and France is in the process of electing a new chamber.

It was said officially this evening that the second ballot for the new Chamber, scheduled for Sunday, would take place whether President Doumer lives or dies.

United States Ambassador Edge and Norman H. Armour, secretary of the embassy, were among the early visitors at the hospital. At 5:30 o'clock Edge sent an embassy secretary to get the latest report on the President's condition. Then Edge sent a radiogram to Secretary of State Stimson, who is on the way back to Washington on board the Steamer Vulcan.

Ambassador Edge issued this statement after he had visited the hospital: "I am greatly shocked at this hasty attack on the President."

TRIES TO AVOID FORECLOSURE ON THE CHESTER APARTMENTS

Trustee Says Negotiations Are Under Way Though Sale Has Been Advertised.

The Chester Apartments, 4943 Lindell boulevard, have been advertised for sale at foreclosure May 19.

James M. Francis, trustee under the first mortgage, said today, however, that discussions looking to settlement were being held and that a public sale likely would be avoided.

Title to the property is in the names of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Ulman, who in January, 1929, negotiated a $270,000 first mortgage on the property with the Prudential Insurance Co. of America. The loan was to bear interest at 6 per cent and semi-annual principal payments of $5400 were to be made until 1949 when the mortgage was to mature. Francis said interest was in default and the last principal payment, due Jan. 9, had not been paid.

The building, an eight-story structure, is similar in design to Hotel Chase which it adjoins. The hotel and the apartments were constructed in 1921 by Chase Ulman, brother of Charles R. Ulman. The apartments were said to have cost $200,000.

No man in public life commands greater respect and admiration. In my frequent contacts with him I have always been deeply impressed by his kindness and friendly consideration. I join with my countrymen in hoping for his speedy recovery."

Doumer, Son of Railway Section Boss. Doumer, after serving his country for many years in various capacities became President last May at the age of 74. His nearest competitor was the late Aristide Briand, but the "Man of Peace" had alienated enough of his contemporaries by his policy of rapprochement with Germany to prevent his election. So Doumer became the thirteenth President of France.

It was the second time he had been a candidate. In 1905 he ran against Armand Fallieres, president of the Senate, and lost.

Doumer's father was a section boss on a railroad. He died when Doumer was a boy and Doumer had to struggle to attain an education, for he had to leave school at 14 to help support his mother.

He laid the foundation for his political career in newspaper work. When he gravitated to politics he specialized in finance and became Minister of Finance in 1935.

Subsequently, for seven strenuous years, he was Governor-General of Indo-China and his return from that post was re-elected to the Chamber of Deputies. Three years later he became president of the Lower House. He held that office when Fallieres, then President of the Senate, defeated him for the Presidency of the Republic.

Doumer's greatest sorrow came in the war. Three of his five sons were killed in battle and a fourth died of wounds soon after the armistice.

During the war Doumer was busy several minor posts although in 1917 he was Minister without portfolio in the Painleve Cabinet which was overthrown by Clemenceau. In 1921 Briand, then premier, made Doumer Minister of Finance. Six years later he became president of the Senate.

Found Slain in Auto in Cleveland. CLEVELAND, O., May 6.—An unidentified man was found slain in an automobile today. The body, with forehead crushed, was wrapped in a blanket.

Two Lawyers Accused of Soliciting Suit

Named in $2009 Action Filed by Woman Injured on Street Car.

R. J. Forrester and C. O. Inman, lawyers and former partners were charged with soliciting a damage suit against the Public Service Co. in a suit for $2009 filed against them in Circuit Court yesterday.

The plaintiffs, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Hale of 4234 Ashland avenue, declare in their petition that the day after Mrs. Hale was injured a year ago in alighting from a street car, she was approached by the two lawyers, or their agents, and persuaded to sign a contract.

This contract, the petition continues, was for legal services in a damage suit to be filed against the car company. Mrs. Hale, it is stated, was in no condition to sign such a document at the time.

It also is charged that she was told Forrester and Inman were experts in the prosecution of damage suits. Mrs. Hale protested, the petition continues that she wanted to get in touch with former Circuit Judge Karl Kimmel, but was told he was busy and would not be able to handle her claim.

Subsequently a suit for $7500 was filed. A jury returned a verdict for $5000, but to avoid the delay of an appeal, settlement was made for $3900. The Hales charge they were forced to bring former Judge Kimmel into the case as their lawyer to bring it to a successful conclusion, and ask that Forrester and Inman be forced to pay them their share of the settlement, $1409, and $890 additional for Kimmel's fee.

Indicted Attorney Refuses to Discuss Charge Against Him

Member of Legislature Held on Complaint of Woman

Robert F. Miller, attorney and Republican member of the State Legislature, who was indicted yesterday on a charge of obtaining $150 from a woman client by false promises, declined today to discuss the case.

The indictment resulted from a complaint by Mrs. Rose Gansel, 19474 Benton street, who said that her name and that of her husband had been forged to checks totaling $1500 offered by the Kroger Grocery & Bakery Co. in settlement of a personal injury damage claim.

Miller, Mrs. Gansel said, solicited her case and recently she learned that the Kroger company had paid $150 in settlement, although she had received nothing. Miller waived immunity and testified before the grand jury that an employee of the day had forged the checks. The day Mrs. Gansel testified before the grand jury a man went to her home and paid her $170 to release the claims against Miller.

Waitress Stabbed to Death; SLAYER WOUNDED IN CHASE

Bertha Robinson, 29-year-old Negro waitress, 2327 Lawton boulevard, was stabbed to death today by Thomas Parrish, 43 years old, a Negro, 2713 Stoddard street, after a quarrel in a restaurant.

In fleeing from the scene, Parrish was shot by Patrolman John Kennard, Negro officer, who followed him to an alley in the 2800 block of Walnut street and ordered him to halt. Parrish suffered a wound of the right side of the back.

CHILD, 2, DIES OF SCALDS

Allen Leneman, 2 years old, died last night at city hospital of scalds suffered Wednesday when he fell into a bucket of hot water at the Leneman home, 715 Morin avenue.

ONE KILLED, THREE HURT WHEN TRAIN HITS COAL TRUCK

Man Riding on Foot Board Fatally Injured in Accident at 21st and Madison Streets, East St. Louis.

One man was killed and three were injured at 10:30 a. m. today, when a Terminal switch engine collided with a coal truck at Twenty-first and Market streets, East St. Louis.

The dead man was Eugene Nunes 35 years old, 3010 North Park drive, East St. Louis. He formerly was a clerk for the Terminal Railroad Association, but had been unemployed for some time. The injured are: H. Stallard, 4012 Wyoming street, St. Louis, switchman of the train; Eli Jones, a Negro, 2656 Lucas avenue, St. Louis, driver of the coal truck, and Clifford Walker, a Negro, 2917 A Wash street, St. Louis, who was riding with Jones.

The engine, pulling 91 empty cars, was traveling about 15 miles an hour in a southerly direction, when it hit the truck, which was moving west with five tons of coal. Nunes, who was riding on the front footboard, was crushed and suffered a fractured skull. He died at St. Mary's Hospital. Stallard, on the rear of the engine, was struck by the wreckage of the truck.

Man Struck While Standing in Safety Zone Dies.

Fritz Elnreiner, 21 years old, 2926 Michigan avenue, died at city hospital yesterday of injuries suffered April 25 when struck by an automobile while waiting for a street car in a safety zone in front of 3752 South Jefferson avenue. The automobile, driven by Albert Gates, a tourist, Spokane, Wash., hit the concrete marker of the zone, then swerved into the safety area, knocking down Elnreiner.

who suffered fractures of the skull and ribs.

At the opening of an inquest today policemen testified that Gates had been drinking the night of the accident. Witnesses testified that the driver stopped the automobile after it knocked Elnreiner down, then started up again and a wheel passed over the prostrate man. The inquiry was continued, as Gates, who is at liberty on bond, was reported in Mattoon, Ill., and did not receive word of Elnreiner's death until today.

Elnreiner, a machinist, is survived by his parents, who live in Freising, Germany.

Ohio Requisition Honored. JEFFERSON CITY, May 6. — Gov. Caulfield yesterday honored an Ohio requisition calling for the return to Cayahoga County of Antonio Sansone, charged with forgery. Sansone is under arrest in St. Louis.

FORMER CHIEF JUSTICE OF OKLAHOMA INDICTED

Accused of Mail Fraud in Connection With Oil Company Promotion.

By the Associated Press.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Ok., May 6. — Charles W. Mason, former Chief Justice of Oklahoma Supreme Court, has been indicted on charges of using the mail to defraud.

The indictment grew out of activities of the C. C. Julian Oil & Royalty Co., in connection with which Julian and others already face Federal prosecution. Mason was trustee of the company for about two months last year.

Mason said today he had done no wrong. He said he was "ready for trial tomorrow upon the facts without taking advantage of any legal technicalities."

The indictment, returned secretly by a grand jury last December 29, became known yesterday when Mason appeared before Judge Edgar S. Vaughn and gave $2000 appearance bond. Herbert K. Hyde, District Attorney, said the indictment named 55 other defendants. The Government charges that the Julian company's promotion operations constituted a $3,000,000 fraud. Most of those indicted have been arrested, Hyde said.

Mason, known as the "flying Chief Justice" when he was on the bench because he held airplane and balloon pilot licenses, severed his connection with the company when Julian and others were arrested and John W. Harrell, former United States Senator, was appointed receiver.

CAT MYSTERIOUSLY WOUNDED

Returns Home With Sewed-Up Incision in Abdomen.

A white cat, with a long incision in its abdomen limped to the home of its owner, J. H. Dugger, 4217 Castleman avenue, last Tuesday. Dugger informed the police.

The cat's stomach had been shaved and the incision had been sewed up with about 10 stitches of black thread. The cat was taken to the Humane Society for treatment. H. Miller, complaint clerk for the society, said today that it was impossible to determine from the wound how it was made.

FAIRMONT HOTEL BOND EXTENSION ATTACKED

Builder Says Fidelity Co. Failed to Cancel $53,000 of Issue at Maturity.

An episode in the financial operations which preceded the closing of the Fidelity Bond & Mortgage Co. last November, after it had sold $13,000,000 in real estate
mortgage bonds, became an issue
today when the Fairmont Hotel receivership case was called for hearing on its merits by Circuit Judge Hoffmeister.

No testimony was heard, however, and the matter was continued until Thursday. Seneca C.
Taylor, lawyer, has been temporary receiver in charge of the hotel
since March 25.

J. W. Graves, real estate dealer who built the hotel in 1923 and later sold it to interests affiliated with Fidelity Bond & Mortgage Co., which had financed the construction, filed an intervening petition charging that $53,000 in bonds on the property had not been canceled
by the Fidelity Bond & Mortgage Co. after they had matured and the original holders had been paid off.

Alleges Action Without Notice.
These and $47,000 in bonds on the Parkview Hotel in Memphis, Tenn., which were similarly handled, it is alleged, were deposited with the closed Fidelity Bank & Trust Co. under a collateral trust agreement, and against them were issued $100,000 in collateral trust gold bonds.

Graves alleges the bonds were extended without notice to other bondholders or to interested parties. His interests are affected, he says, because he personally guaranteed the Fairmont issue of $300-000.

The extended bonds are now in possession of Hans Wulff, who is liquidating the Fidelity Bank & Trust Co., which was affiliated with the Bond & Mortgage Co. Attached to them is a plain sheet of paper bearing the words "extended to June 1, 1934." It bears no signature or other indication of the authority under which the extension was made.

Van Raalte Seeks to Intervene.
Another intervening petition was filed today by Simon Van Raalte,
who lent $50,000 to the Fidelity
Bond & Mortgage Co. and accepted
a second mortgage on the Fairmont Hotel as security. Van Raalte asks that a competent hotel manager be employed by the receiver to take charge of the property. It is now only 40 per cent rented, according to Van Raalte's petition.

BURIES SELF, THEN ENDS LIFE
Michigan Man Despondent Over
Loss of Farm.

By the Associated Press.
BAY CITY, Mich., May 6.—Albert Rolf, a farmer, dug his own grave by lantern light yesterday,
then buried himself except for his head and arms before killing himself with a shotgun. The body and grave were found after an all-day search that started when his family discovered he had disappeared from his home near Crump,
Mich., during the night.

Rolf was 59 years old. His act was attributed to despondency over loss of his farm. The widow and six children survive.

It's the clever details that make
these shoes so SMART...

MELLON RENEWS PLEA, 'DON'T SELL U.S. SHORT'

Ambassador Quotes J. P. Morgan in Address at London Luncheon.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, May 6.—J. P. Morgan's four-word sermon, "Never Sell America Short," was preached again today by United States Ambassador Mellon to a gathering of bankers and business men at a luncheon in London's City Hall.

"A great and patriotic American who lived much in England and loved his country, once said to a compatriot, 'Never sell America short,'" said Mellon.

"I would reiterate what Mr. Morgan said then, and I would apply it to England no less than to my own country.

"None of us has any means of knowing when or how we shall emerge from the valley of depression in which the world is now traveling. But I do know that, as in the past, a day will come when we shall find ourselves on a more solid economic foundation and the onward march of progress will be resumed."

The Ambassador said that often it was difficult to obtain a true picture on one side of the ocean of what was happening on the other. "Over there," he said, "you read that our Congress is having difficulty balancing the budget, and one is apt to get an impression that there is a lack of will on the part of either the Congress or the country, whereas the opposite is the case. The country has determined that the Government shall set its own house in order and that the public credit shall be protected at all costs."

Mellon said the important thing to remember was that Congress was seeking to levy more than a billion dollars in new taxes and that that was not an easy thing for any legislative body to do.

President Hoover, he said, "has shown leadership of the highest order," and when the full effect of the legislation he has inspired is felt, "banking and business organizations will be in position to take advantage of any improvement in the general situation when it comes."

She found her father and brother after a long search.

DR. C. P. WOODRUFF DIES; FORMER STATE Q. A. R. HEAD

Retired as Practicing Physician a Few Years Ago; Succumbed at 69

Dr. Chalmers P. Woodruff, a retired physician and past Department Commander of the Grand Army of the Republic of Missouri, died last night at his apartment in the Park Plaza Hotel of infirmities of age. He was 69 years old. Dr. Woodruff practiced in Kansas City and St. Louis, retiring a few years ago because of ill health.

He is survived by a son, Forest K. Woodruff, and a brother, Dr. Wilson J. Woodruff, of Wapello, Ia. His wife died four years ago. Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock at Grace Methodist Church, Skinner boulevard and Waterman avenue. Burial will take place in Valhalla Cemetery.

ALDERMEN SEE POLICE BOARD ON 10 PCT. PAY CUT

Delegation Urges Voluntary Reduction in Line With That in City-Controlled Departments.

A delegation from the Board of Aldermen, including the ways and means committee, went before the Police Board this afternoon, to ask that the Police Department "go along" with city-controlled department in a 10 per cent salary cut. Reporters were not admitted to the Police Board session.

The aldermen were prepared to tell the Police Board, on authority of Director of Public Safety Steininger, that the city firemen would stand a like cut, by taking three days off each month without pay. The aldermen's call on the Police Board was by invitation of Henry W. Kiel, president of the Police Board, and Mayor from 1915 to 1924. Kiel talked with the aldermen yesterday afternoon of their pending effort to balance the municipal budget. He gave them his view that budget-balancing was not so all-important as they seemed to think.

Two members of the City Plan Commission, Prof. A. S. Langsdorf and William Wedemeyer, were before the Aldermen. Langsdorf said the commission was ready to take a cut from the appropriation of $18,272, contained in the budget bill, to $14,500. This will be a reduction of 20.4 per cent from the $20,527 which the commission expended last year. President Neun and most of the Aldermen seemed satisfied, but Alderman Watts demanded that the whole appropriation for the commission be struck out. "We don't need you guys," he said to Prof. Langsdorf. "And what about that fellow Bartholomew? He gets $4000 a year, and he admitted to us that he only gives the city one-third of his time. Anybody can sit and dream and draw pictures, but what good are the pictures when we have no money? We all know how to beautify the city, if we can get the money."

Wedemeyer and President Neun of the board came to the defense of Harland Bartholomew, engineer of the commission, who has a downtown office and has done planning work for several cities. Wedemeyer said Bartholomew, a few years ago, refused an offer of $20,000 a year to leave St. Louis. "He should have taken it," Watts exclaimed. "We can spare him. There are engineers in Kinsey's and Horner's offices—why can't we use them?" President Kinsey of the Board of Public Service and Chief Engineer Horner of the Streets and Sewers Department were the officials referred to.

Bartholomew Defended. Prof. Langsdorf said the City Plan Commission's work was in evidence almost anywhere in St. Louis, and cited the widening of boulevards, the Plaza and River des Peres work, as having originated in the commission's plans. President Neun endorsed this statement, but said that taxpayers had revolted against the present method of paying for street widenings, and that probably a new method would have to be established before the city could make further progress in following the commission's ideas. "Bartholomew ought to be off the payroll," was Watts' final shot, as the Aldermen turned to hearing other departments.

Sheriff Strodtman said he would "go along" by accepting his cut from $172,426 to $155,945. He asked the Aldermen, in return, to get behind his movement for a State law to require cash bonds to be posted by plaintiffs in suits, to assure the Sheriff that he would get his fees. This, he said, would increase the amount which his successor could refund to the city. The Sheriff's office being more than self-supporting.

Recorder of Deeds Tamme, one of the State group of officials, said he would take a 10 per cent cut if others did, but that he disliked to see the cut applied to the office employees, the highest-paid of whom gets $175 a month, and some copyists less than $100. He said he had placed the office on a self-supporting basis, and had returned a surplus of $145,000 to the city in five years, whereas in the five years before his incumbency it had cost the city $45,000.

Supply Commissioner Weston, a city official, said in no joyous manner that he would be "glad" to take a 10 per cent cut with other city officials, but that his seven office employees could ill afford it. The office handled $2,000,000 worth of supplies a year, he said.

Deputy Comptroller Gunn said he had been studying the hospital situation further, and thought the institutions could cut their costs considerably with no detriment to the service rendered. Gunn made a statistical estimate showing the numbers of patients and employees in the City Hospital in certain years, and the average cost per patient per year. The figures were:

Year	Patients	Employees	Cost per Patient
1909-10	728	257	$ 332.98
1922-23	782	484	606.84
1927-28	724	595	862.18
1931-32	842	742	1032.52

"Our city institutions," Gunn said, "have been trying to rival the Government hospitals and private institutions. They do not need to spend so much."

64 DOUKHOBORS SENTENCED FOR PARADING IN THE NUDE

Men Get Three Years in Canadian Prison; 24 Women to Be Arraigned Later.

By the Associated Press.
NELSON, B. C., May 6.—Eighty-four Doukhobor men were sentenced yesterday to three years' imprisonment each after pleading guilty of parading in the nude at Thrums last Sunday. Their cases were disposed of at a rate of one a minute before Magistrate John Carmel. The cases of 24 women also arrested Sunday for parading in the nude have not been dealt with.

The men will be sent to Westminister Penitentiary. Officials said any of the women convicted would be sent to Kingston, Ont.

YORKTON, Sask., May 6.—Peter Verigin, leader of Canada's 15,000 Doukhobors, was convicted of perjury by a jury yesterday. He was sentenced today to three years.

Verigin has been leader of the Doukhobors since he came from Russia in 1927 and by his own statement has accumulated $720,000 in that time. According to testimony he gave at Chutakoff's hearing Verigin is a Communist and twice was sentenced to death in Russia. He served two years' imprisonment and escaped death only on condition he leave the country.

WILLIAM GEIST BRINGS SUIT AGAINST BROKERS FOR $20,000

Alleges G. H. Walker & Co. Has Received That Amount From Him and Not Repaid It.

Suit for $20,000 for "money had and received" was filed in Circuit Court yesterday by William Geist of Clayton against the partners in the brokerage firm of G. H. Walker & Co.

It is alleged that the firm at various times between May 10, 1929, and last Nov. 19, received for the use of Geist the total amount for which judgment is asked and his demand for repayment has not been met.

The details of the transaction are not set forth, but it was stated by P. H. Cullen, representing Geist, that it involved stock trades.

The defendants are G. H. Walker Jr., W. B. Dean and W. L. Beck. At the office of Walker & Co. it was stated there was no basis for the suit. Geist was chief clerk under former Circuit Attorney Sidener.

MRS. JULIA BLANKE, 92, DIES

Widow of Candy Firm Founder; Funeral Tomorrow.

Mrs. Julia A. Blanke, 92 years old, died last night from infirmities of age at her home, 4135 Washington boulevard. She was the widow of Henry W. Blanke, founder of the Blanke & Brothers Candy Co., now the Blanke-Wenneker Candy Co.

The funeral will be held at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow from her home to Bellefontaine Cemetery. Two daughters, Mrs. Dan W. Orvick of the Washington boulevard address and Mrs. James M. Getty of the Fairmont Hotel survive.

Two Children Burned to Death. ROMNEY, W. Va., May 6.—Two children were burned to death in a fire that destroyed their mountain home near Okonoko, Berkeley County. The children, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Day, 18 months and 3 years old, were alone in the house when it caught fire. The bodies were found in the ruins.

Home Run Breaks Up Bridge Game

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 6.—Buzz Arlett, outfielder for the Baltimore baseball team, made a home run in a game here yesterday. The ball went through a window and knocked Mrs. Ida Moore unconscious at a bridge table.

MANY FEATURES FOR NEW SHREDDED BISCUIT

Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuit Set New Standard for This Type of Cereal

Local grocers are featuring a new shredded biscuit developed by the Kellogg Company of Battle Creek, Michigan, which is a decided improvement in many ways. The improved Kellogg's Biscuit is "pre-cooked" by a special process that retains the complete food value of the whole wheat. At the same time, delightful flavor is baked in.

Other improvements are a biscuit of more convenient, economical size. Two of these new biscuits just fit the cereal bowl. You get 15 to the package instead of the usual dozen. And every biscuit is toasted a rich golden brown on both top and bottom—just one side. This makes them exceptionally crisp.

These new biscuits have been analyzed by the Medical Arts Laboratory of Philadelphia and found to be so rich in food value that every package is certified. Any mother can now be certain her family is getting a well-balanced food with these new Kellogg's biscuits.

Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuits are tasty for breakfast, lunch, children's suppers. Extra good with fruit or sweetened with honey—in addition to the milk or cream.

You can identify these new biscuits by the name, Kellogg's, and the familiar red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

EAST SIDE SERVICE CAR DRIVERS CEASE OPERATING

Threatened With Arrest, They Abandon Routes in St. Clair and Madison Counties.

Service car drivers in St. Clair and Madison counties stopped operating yesterday, when faced with arrest by a combined force of State and local police for violations of Illinois State laws regulating passenger carriers. More than 100 service car drivers failed to appear on their scheduled routes. No arrests were made.

Charges were made recently by the East St. Louis & Suburban Railway Co. that service cars were operating without insurance protection for passengers and without permits from the commission, in violation of State laws.

Check Forger Blks Auto Dealers. A man who has cashed five fraudulent checks recently at St. Louis automobile agencies is being sought by police on complaint of the St. Louis Automobile Dealers' Association. His usual practice, according to police, has been to visit automobile showrooms, ask for demonstrations and finally obtain business cards of the agents, get them cashed at other agencies.

P. S. CO. REPLIES TO UNION PROTEST AGAINST PAY CUT

Cites Reductions Elsewhere and Challenges Estimate of Earnings by Nelson, Leader of Workers' Organization.

Stanley Clark, president of the Public Service Co., today issued a statement in reply to that given out Wednesday by the street car men's union on the company's proposal to reduce wages 10 per cent.

Clark's statement follows: "With respect to the detailed statement of Mr. Nelson, president of the Street Car Men's Union, printed in the May 4 issue of the Post-Dispatch, I will make the following statement:

"We made no promise that a reduction of wages for 1932 would not be contemplated by the company. We explained that we would have to present the situation to the Executive committee and board of directors of the company so that they could act on the facts. We further stated we would be glad if we could point out to the board a way whereby the wage expense could be sufficiently reduced without curtailing the earnings of the officers of the union by effecting that reduction in wage through a reduction of the rate of pay per hour. Following my letter of April 9 to the union officials, the union appointed a committee which met with me and several members of the staff in my office on April 12.

"Dead Time" Arrangement. "We gave Mr. Nelson a memorandum dated April 5 which showed the amount by which the wage bill could be reduced by reduction in rates of pay per hour and also the amount by which it could be reduced by elimination of 'dead time' (time paid for but not worked). On April 15 the union officials again met with us in my office and suggested that the amount to be expended by the company in wages might be reduced, if the matter was properly presented to the union membership, by certain elimination of 'dead time' amounting on an annual basis to approximately $100,000, and which would amount for the seven months' period under consideration, beginning June 1, 1932, for the balance of the year 1932 to approximately $29,000. The union officials did not suggest conceding the elimination of all 'dead time'.

"On April 15 we again met with the union officials in my office to see whether they had evolved any means other than a cut in rates of wage when the number of dollars to be expended by the company could be brought within the amount which we believed would be available. They did not make any suggestion other than to express the hope that the revenue would not be as low as we feared. We told them it would be necessary to present some solution at the meeting of the executive committee of the company to be held on the following morning, and that since no plan had been evolved to afford sufficient savings to make ends meet other than to combine the saving in wage by change in working conditions with a reduction in rates of wage to all employees, it would be necessary, therefore, for us to present those facts to our executive committee and board of action. They expressed the hope that the board would not act so as to demand a reduction in rates of pay. The action of the executive committee on the following day, April 18 (which action was approved by the board of directors sitting as a whole) resulted in the letter, dated April 19, giving notice of termination of wage contract. Calls Nelson's Statement Entire.

"Mr. Nelson's statement, therefore, is untrue where he says: 'The company's letter of April 19, giving its notice of termination of agreement is directly contrary, therefore, to the earlier explicit assurance that there would be no change in the basic wage scale.'

"Mr. Nelson's statement that, after our notice of termination, we refused to discuss the situation further, is not accurate. We did refuse to withdraw our notice of termination, as such withdrawal would have extended the existing contract for another year under existing rates of pay and working conditions. The following letter of April 29, written by me to the union officials, explains our position:

"I acknowledge receipt of your letter of April 23, 1932, referring to my letter to you of the 23d instant. If you will examine my letter of April 23 you will see that I did not therein express a refusal to confer with you. I did state that I did not believe 'that a discussion of the various statements made by you in your letter would aid the situation.' I am still of that opinion. I think the statements made in your letter were of a character which it is better not to discuss because they were not only sarcastic but inaccurate and serve for no basis of discussion for the issues which we face today. I stated in my letter of April 23 that we were unable to withdraw our notice of termination. The situation has not changed in that respect, but, as heretofore, you are welcome to confer with us at any time that you desire."

Figures on Savings. "Mr. Nelson's statement that results of the wage arbitration made the members of his union the victims of gross miscarriage of justice and that within six months we again seek to take advantage of economic conditions to beat down their wages, ignores the fact that we knew last May that the 10 per cent reduction in rates of wage was justified at that time and gave notice of it then. The four and one-half month delay in making that reduction effective resulted in penalizing the company and not the men. The total reduction in operating expenses in 1931, by reason of the reduction in rates of wage, amounted to but $156,000, including the reduction to all employes, whether members of Local 133 or not. This reduction in rates of wage applied to operating expenses for the year 1932 amounts to not over $710,000. The 10 per cent additional reduction which will be effective June 1, 1932, will, for the remaining seven months of 1932, amount to approximately $270,000 reduction in operating expenses, making the total reduction in operating expenses by reason of the reduction in rates of pay below the 1929 rates, aggregate $1,080,000 for the calendar year 1932. "With respect to Mr. Nelson's estimates of revenues and expenses for 1932, I believe they are no more reliable than his estimates for 1931. The results proved him to have been incorrect. The estimates in my letter to employees dated April 30, 1932, were, I believe, optimistic. For example, we estimated for 1932 a 16 per cent decrease in gross operating revenue under 1931. The month of April, 1932, showed a decrease of over 18 per cent from the same month in 1931.

"We have repeatedly expressed our willingness to make a contract with the union and insist only that it be at rates of pay which we be able to pay. Mr. Nelson leads his membership in attempting to make it appear that issue at this time is a contract.

CLARKE ANSWERS UNION PLEA ON WAGE QUESTION

when in reality the issue is a rate of pay.

"There have been wage reductions in the rates of pay to street railway employees in a large number of companies throughout the country. In most instances these reductions have been made by mutual agreement between the employees and the employer companies. For example, by such agreement the union employees in Cleveland (affiliated with the same national association of street railway employees as our Local 748), as of March 1, 1932, took a reduction of 13 cents an hour in platform wages, thereby reducing to 60 cents the rate of pay for two men operators and to 45 cents the rate of pay for one man operators. We are not in this crisis asking our men to assist in meeting it by taking a starvation rate of wage. The present platform rates of 68.4 cents to one man operators and

$2.1 cents to two man operators will, when reduced by 10 per cent on June 1, 1932, be higher than the rates paid today in East St. Louis or Kansas City where the cost of living is more similar to that in St. Louis.

"I believe that a so-called secret ballot strike vote is an idle gesture and is merely a technical step. By such vote the leaders are given authority to command. Men follow their leaders. We do not blame them for that. Yet it is the leaders who are to blame if they cause the suffering to follow for any ill-advised action. If these leaders order their men out, then such of these men who obey that command will suffer from unemployment. Some of them have devoted so much of their life to this industry that they are not well fitted for other employment and could not get it even in more prosperous times. In such a situation of pain and unhappiness there would be only one alleviating fact—the opportunity to employ many deserving men now unemployed."

BOARD ANNOUNCES $959,139 SAVING IN SCHOOL PAYROLL

Finance Committee Says All Employees Have Agreed to Contribute 20 Days' Salary in Year.

A saving of $959,139.07 in the Board of Education payroll for the next fiscal year, through agreement of all employees to contribute 20 days' pay, was announced by the board's Finance Committee yesterday.

For teachers, who are paid for a 200-day year, the reduction will be equivalent to 10 per cent. For 12-month employees, who work five and a half days a week or 28 1/2 days a year, the cut is equivalent to 7 per cent. However, the board points out that 12-month employees work a longer day and week and have shorter vacations than teachers.

Salary schedules are not being changed. This assures the corps of a return to normal pay when school finances permit. The 20 days' sacrifice will not apply to those receiving less than $100 a month. The next fiscal year starts July 1.

Grade Teachers Offered 10 Days. The Grade Teachers' Association, representing most of the elementary instructors—a group receiving almost half of the entire payroll—offered recently to contribute 10 days' pay in the year. A spokesman for the association asserted today that no agreement had been made to give 20 days' pay. Supt. Gerling explained that officers of the association had agreed in conference with him and President Murphy to contribute also pay for 10 days a year.

As announced by the Finance Committee, the reduction in payroll by departments will be: Teachers and principals, $453,625; other instruction Department employees, $447,114; Building Department, $62,359.80 (not counting savings on some employees dropped recently); Finance Department, $27,171; Supply Department, $14,440.50; Auditing Department, $14,855.62; Legal Department, $4,835.25. The total saving amounts to about 5.6 per cent of the payroll.

The various department heads obtained agreements from employees to contribute their pay as a means of necessary school economy. In the case of principals and grade teachers the action was taken through their organizations. No written acceptance of the cut has been received from high and vocational school teachers.

Statement by the Board. The following statement was issued: "The public being interested in all matters of economy, the Finance Committee is very happy to announce that through the voluntary action of every employee of the board, the board will effect a saving of $959,139.07 for the coming fiscal year. This has been brought about by the voluntary agreement of the employees to contribute 20 days of their time without compensation. This action is highly appreciated by the board, since it helps us materially in balancing the budget, and we feel sure the public at large also recognizes the magnanimous attitude of the employees."

Economies of $360,000 in the instruction department also were announced. They include: Elimination of summer schools this year, $200,000; retrenchment in evening schools, $50,000; playgrounds, $25,000; continuation schools, $20,000; kindergartens, $15,000; special schools, $600; hygiene division, $5000. The board also plans to save $400,000 by reduction of the volume of summer repairs to buildings and equipment and $250,000 by reversion of supply department appropriations.

Receipts for the next fiscal year now are estimated at $10,750,000. It is planned to hold expenditures to $10,500,000 or less.

ONLY PART OF CLAIMS AGAINST SOUTHERN SURETY TAKEN OVER

Home Indemnity of New York Assumes Portion of Insurance.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, May 6.—The Home Indemnity Co. of New York is assuming only a part of the claims of the insolvent Southern Surety Co., Charles A. Loughlin, general counsel of the Home company, said today.

"It was stated in press dispatches to St. Louis that we were taking all the claims of the Southern," Loughlin said. "That is incorrect. We are reinsuring only a part of the business of Southern Surety. Only to that extent are we taking over claims against it."

Southern Surety affairs are now being wound up by the Department of Insurance here. The company, as an Iowa corporation, formerly had its headquarters in St. Louis.

JURY DISAGREES AT TRIAL OF MAIL FRAUD CHARGE

Two Chicago Men, Unable to Give Bond, Are Returned to City Jail.

Unable to agree after deliberating seven hours, a jury in Federal Judge Faris' court was discharged yesterday in the case of Robert A. Gaudette and Gale Lano, both of Chicago, on charges of using the mails to defraud.

The defendants came here last December and advertised for men to take employment with the Allied Parking Lots Service Co. as chauffeurs and attendants, and sought to collect from applicants $23.50 for uniforms and additional money for bonds.

Postoffice inspectors testified that following their arrest they admitted they had no contracts with owners of parking lots that would permit them to carry out their plan. It was shown they had collected from only one applicant.

The defendants have been in the city jail unable to give bond since their arrest. They were returned there last night to await a retrial.

"Torch Singer" Seeks Divorce. By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 6.—Lillian Roth, "Torch Singer" of vaudeville and the movies, is seeking a Mexican divorce from William C. Scott, whom she married 13 months ago in Atlanta, Ga. She met Scott, an aviator son of a wealthy Pittsburgh lumber man, three months after she received word of the sudden death of her fiancé, Herbert Ochinsky.

20 Horses Named, About 15 to Run in the Derby

Collyer Picks Whitney Entry To Win Derby

BERT E. COLLYER, nationally known handicapper, selects the Whitney entry of Stepenficht and Overtime to win the 1932 Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs, Louisville.

Tick On should run second and Lucky Tom third, according to Collyer.

Earl Sande, who has ridden three Derby winners, will be in the saddle on Overtime.

Tick On 2-1 Choice; Hoops New Candidate; Forecast of Showers

By the Associated Press.
LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 6.—Twenty thoroughbred three-year-olds were entered today for the fifty-eighth running of the Kentucky Derby tomorrow at Churchill Downs.

Among them were the favorite, Tick On, owned by Mrs. L. G. Kaufman of New York, quoted at 2 to 1 odds, and the E. R. Bradley entry, Brother Joe and Burgo King, second choice, at 4 to 1.

The race, $50,000 added, will be run over the mile and a quarter about 5 p. m. central standard time. Probably only 15 will face the barrier tomorrow, however, since five are doubtful starters—Crystal Prince, Thistle Ace, Our Fancy, Cee Tee and Oscillation. The last named is a filly.

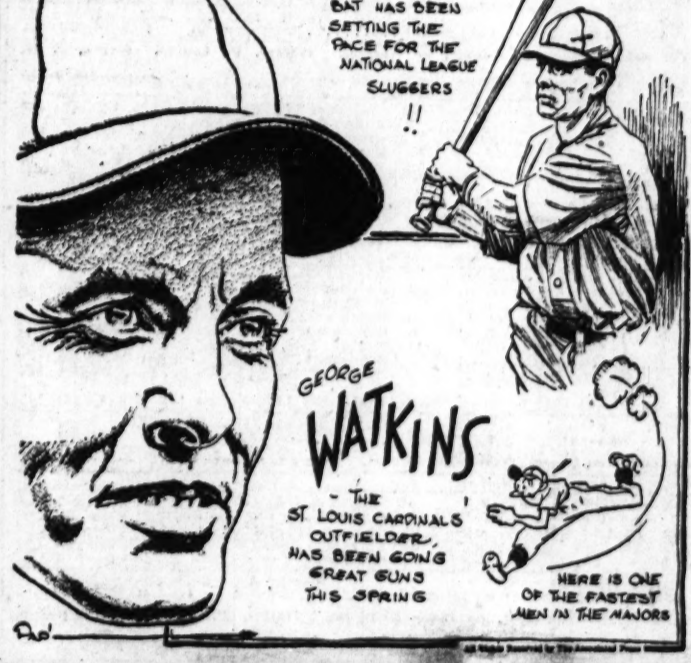

Among the entries was Hoops, chestnut gelding, which put himself into Derby class by a sensational victory here yesterday.

It's still the one horse-race in America that really grips the imagination of the sports-loving public, this Kentucky Derby; but its fifty-eighth running tomorrow around the picturesque oval at the Downs lacks some of its customary glamour and most of its usual thoroughbred class.

For the very reason that the field is more wide open than in years it may be a better and more exciting race, even if no more than fifteen go to the barrier; but the uncertainty and unrest of the times has unquestionably struck this classic of old Kentucky.

Within four days this week, the

LOU TERRY OPPOSES BOJARSKI, TONIGHT

PITTSBURG, Pa., May 6.—Lou Terry, Missouri lightweight, battles Frankie Bojarski, Erie, Pa., in the 10-round main event of a boxing bill here tonight. The weights: Terry, 132; Bojarski, 138. Howard Ziv, St. Louis, takes on Eddie Scott, Pittsburgh, at 132 pounds in a six-rounder on the show.

Dave Barry, St. Louis, and Jackie Wilson, Pittsburgh, will meet, due to injuries sustained by Barry in training.

WATKINS HITS TRIPLE WITH BASES FILLED; 12,000 ATTEND GAME

By J. Roy Stockton.
SPORTSMAN'S PARK, May 6.—The Cardinals lost their second straight game to the New York Giants this afternoon. Two more games are to be played.

The score was 4 to 3. It was Ladies' Day and about 8000 women and 4000 cash customers attended.

AMERICAN TEAM LOSES COURT TENNIS MATCH

LONDON, May 6.—Great Britain defeated the United States in the annual court tennis match for the Bathurst Tennis Cup yesterday, when the British doubles team of Lord Aberdare and L. Lee defeated W. C. Wright of Philadelphia, United States singles and doubles champion, and J. H. Van Alen of New York. It was Britain's tenth victory.

(It may start with one tooth)

Pyorrhea Will Get a Lot of Teeth Before It Stops

Why not face this pyorrhea business frankly? Half the adult teeth lost are caused by pyorrhea. Four out of every five people past the age of forty have this dangerous gum trouble. It comes so stealthily that you do not know you have it. It starts at the gum line and works toward the tooth sockets.

Pyorrhea may now be undermining the structure of your gums and teeth. It often goes about its quiet destruction for many, many years before it is either seen or felt. But once it does take a tooth—look out for the others! Facts are facts. Ignoring pyorrhea doesn't pay. You can't "fool" yourself about it. You simply must have professional dental advice about twice a year and when you take up home treatment seriously, it will pay to use a toothpaste invented by a dentist. Dr. R. J. Forhan devoted a lifetime to pyorrhea treatment. His professional formula is embodied in Forhan's Toothpaste. It's the finest toothpaste money can buy, with an extra-protection feature in its special formula. Don't let pyorrhea get started. Use prevention. Use Forhan's. Use it twice a day—old and young. ## OPEN WINDOW LEADS TO LIQUOR SEIZURE

Police Find 20,000 Gallons of Beer in Raid at 2510 Fall Avenue.

An open window led to the discovery of a small brewery at 2510 Fall Avenue last night. Patrolman George Julka, walking his beat, noticed a window open in the building, which bears a sign, "Murphy Moving and Storage Co." Julka took a look inside for burglars, and was greeted by an odor not associated with the moving business. Julka summoned reinforcements, and the officers entered the building. In a rear room they reported finding two copper tanks, each of 10,000 gallons capacity, full of beer; pressure pump; several wooden vats and 30 barrels of beer. Federal prohibition agents took charge.

William Murphy, owner of the building, was arrested at his home, 2627 North Garrison avenue. Police say that Murphy, a mover, told them he rented the place to two strangers in February on their representation that they were opening a paint shop. He is held pending investigation.

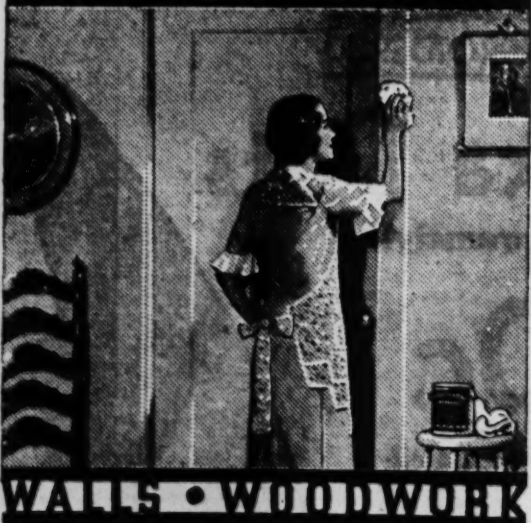

Strike Clash in New Zealand. CHRISTCHURCH, New Zealand, May 6.—Three hundred strikers armed with sticks and stones attacked the first street car operated in this city today, but were beaten off by 500 special constables.

No rubbing

WIPES AWAY DIRT AND GREASE LIKE MAGIC

SINKS • WINDOWS

WALLS • WOODWORK

No more brushes, no more scrub buckets, no more back-tiring rubbing, no more water-reddened hands! Sounds like magic but it isn't magic. It is just a new method of cleaning your house and keeping it clean without drudgery. And it is already become the practice in thousands of homes.

You just spread Garden City Waterless Cleaner on the dirt and grease, on the soot and grime, and then wipe it off with a damp cloth. Like magic Garden City Waterless Cleaner absorbs dirt and grease without harm to fine finishes and to delicate fabrics. Gentle to tender hands—keeps them soft and white.

Garden City Waterless Cleaner is a creamy compound that cleans painted walls and woodwork, linoleum and furniture, windows, sinks, tubs and stoves more quickly than you ever dreamed they could be cleaned and far more easily.

Special Offer

Garden City Waterless Cleaner is sold by department stores, groceries, and hardware stores in three convenient sizes. The coupon below is good for Ten cents on the purchase of any size can until May 21st. Cash it in today and use Garden City Waterless Cleaner for your housecleaning.

FREED AT THIRD TRIAL FOR HOLDUP MURDER

Layton Payne, Negro, Previously Convicted Twice in Slabbing of Mandel Glatstein.

Layton Payne, Negro, 29 years old, who had been twice convicted of the murder in 1920 of Mandel Glatstein, a merchant stabbed to death near his home at 1422A North Fourteenth street, was acquitted yesterday when he was tried for the third time after having been granted new trials in each previous case. Juries at the first trial had assessed life imprisonment.

Payne was the second of three Negro defendants to win acquittal. The third, Dan Evans, 25, was convicted at his third trial, April 27. Payne and Evans were tried and convicted jointly twice before, but for the last trial, Payne took a severance. Sam Boyd, the other defendant, was acquitted at his first trial, more than a year ago.

New trials were granted to Evans and Payne the first time, when Circuit Judge Ryan ruled the verdict of guilty was against the weight of evidence. The second new trial, also granted by Judge Ryan, was on the ground that statements by counsel for both sides were prejudicial to the defendants' case.

Principal witness for the State was Caroline Anderson, Negro, who said she saw Glatstein attacked by the three defendants, and saw him fall, stabbed. The assailants, who had robbed him of $23, fled, but Evans, she testified, stopped, looked back and shouted to his companions: "That guy ain't dead. He's crawlin'."

The jury in Circuit Judge Osing's Court, which acquitted Payne, deliberated four and one-half hours.

WEALTHY CLEVELAND MAN GUARDED AFTER THREATS

Attempt to Extort $25,000 From Ellsworth H. Augustus, Amateur Golfer.

CLEVELAND, O., May 6.—Guards last night patrolled the estate of Ellsworth H. Augustus, wealthy real estate man and amateur golfer, who received a note last Monday demanding $25,000 under penalty of death. The threats were repeated by telephone yesterday after he had failed to pay the money.

Private detectives have been guarding Augustus as he goes to work, guards have been stationed at his 80-acre estate in Waite Heights Village and other men have been detailed to the two of his three small children who attend school.

The extortionists ordered Augustus to have $25,000 in small bills at a fence post at his estate between midnight and 1 a. m. Tuesday, but the men failed to appear. The note, written in a schoolboy's hand on a paper bag, said, "It will be bad for your whole home" if he refused to pay. It was signed "Poor Families."

The note was followed by a telephone call to Augustus' secretary yesterday in which a man ordered the secretary to "tell Mr. Augustus he didn't keep his word. He'll get it for this—many others. If that isn't enough, we'll get his children, too."

1500 MEN RECALLED BY I. C.

CHICAGO, May 6.—The Illinois Central Railroad has announced it is recalling 1500 men back to full time work and is restoring 1100 others now on part time to full time employment. The entire $400 are maintenance of way and track laborers.

The railroad's allowance for track maintenance work for May will be about double that for last month, the announcement stated.

BURESCH AND CABINET RESIGN IN AUSTRIA

Chancellor Continues in Office for Time and May Head
New Government.

By the Associated Press.
VIENNA, May 6.—The Austrian Cabinet, headed by Chancellor Karl Buresch, resigned today. The resignations, presented to President
Miklas by Buresch, were accepted,
but Buresch consented to continue in office until a new Government is formed.

Formation of a Rightist Cabinet
was expected, probably with Bu-resch continuing in his post, but with representatives of the Fascist Heimwehr joining the Government.
Gov. Rintelen of Styria was mentioned as a chancellorship possibility.

OPPOSES WAGNER RELIEF BILL

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, May 6.—Objections to the Wagner bill for a State-Federal employment service
as "inflexible, experimental and coercive upon the states" were laid before the Senate yesterday in a minority report by four members of the Commerce Committee.
The report was signed by Senators Dale (Rep.), Vermont; Patterson (Rep.), Missouri; Moses (Rep.), New Hampshire, and Blingham (Rep.), Connecticut. The committee has reported favorably on the bill, which is virtually the same as a measure vetoed last year
by President Hoover. The report contended it would "result in disruption of the existing system,"
and continued: "Clearly the main object is to make it possible for any state to put itself in a position to demand and obtain money
directly from the United States Government without regard to the needs of the state."

HOUSE COMMITTEE REJECTS ALL CASH BONUS PROPOSALS

Ways and Means Group
Also Agrees to Make Adverse Report on New-
Money Bills.

ACTION VIRTUALLY KILLS THE MEASURES

Little Possibility of Bringing About Vote on the Floor Before Adjournment.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, May 6.—All
plans for cashing the $2,000,000,000
War Bonds bonus were rejected today
by the House Ways and Means
committee by a 15 to 10 vote.
The committee further voted to report the new-money bills to the House adversely.

This action creates a parliamentary situation that will delay any effort to force a House vote through discharge petition.
Representative Putnam (Dem.), Texas, chief bonus advocate, has
opposed the committee action
making an unfavorable report to the House. Under the rules, Putnam said, June 13 would be the last day of which a vote could be secured through a petition signed by 35 members.

Representative Rainey of Illinois,
the Democratic leader, was designated in time for the national conventions, the committee action definitely killed any opportunity for a House vote on the bonus issue.

The committee vote on making
an adverse report to the House on each bonus plan was:
For (15)—Democrats: (5); Collier, Crips, Rainey, Ragon and Lewis; Republicans (10), Hawley, Madway, Bacharach, Hadley,
Timberlake, Watson, McLaughlin,
Hindolm, Crowther and Adair.
Against (10)—Democrats:
Boughton, Hill, Canfield, Cullen, Sullivan, Sanders, Eslick, McCor-
ack, Dickinson and Vinson of Kentucky.

Ragon explained that he had favored the Putnam bill, but when it was rejected he voted to make the
adverse report to the House.

ENGLAND WILL KEEP WORD ON WAR DEBTS, PASTOR SAYS

The Rev. W. F. Howard Declares,
However, That Germany Can-
not Pay Another Cent.

By the Associated Press.
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 6.
—Two Englishmen, bearing fraternal greetings from the British Wesleyan Church, today told the
general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church that England
would stand by its war debt obligations, even though believing they should be revised. Both speakers praised American prohibition. They were the Rev. Wilbert F. Howard of Birmingham, England, and the
Rev. Parkinson Tomlinson of Poulton-Le-Fylde, a former member of Parliament.

Dr. Howard and Tomlinson said
Britain would stand by her international obligations, "even if it means
selling the coat from her back, and
the taking down of the last picture
from her museums and the last
first edition from her shelves."
"You will never find England
coming to you with a cringing appeal," Dr. Howard said. "Once we give our word, we never request it back. But America may yet lift
the burden from the nations which
are being crushed beneath it,
speaking as an Englishman. I know that Germany for one can-
not pay another cent, and it should not be asked of her."

TURNS DOWN NOMINATION

George L. Wilson Named by National Party for Presidency.

By the Associated Press.
VINELAND, N. J., May 6.—
George L. Wilson, druggist, who was nominated as the presidential candidate of the National party at the convention in Indianapolis last Tuesday, today decided not to accept the nomination. Wilson, 72
years old, said he would recommend to the Nominating Committee
of the party that it select Jacob S.
Coxey, Mayor of Miamillon, O., and leader of the famous "Coxey's Army," as the candidate.
Wilson stated he would also urge
other Midwestern political groups, having aims similar to that of the National party, to support Coxey.

HOUSE COMMITTEE REJECTS ALL CASH BONUS PROPOSALS

Ways and Means Group
Also Agrees to Make Adverse Report on New-
Money Bills.

ACTION VIRTUALLY KILLS THE MEASURES

Little Possibility of Bringing About Vote on the Floor Before Adjourn-
ment.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—All
plans for cashing the $2,000,000,000
soldiers' bonus were rejected today
by the House Ways and Means Committee by a 15 to 10 vote.

The committee further voted to
report the new-money bills to the House adversely.

This action creates a parliamentary situation that will delay any effort to force a House vote through
discharge petition.

Representative Patman (Dem.), Texas, chief bonus advocate, has
opposed the committee action
making an unfavorable report to the House. Under the rules, Patman said, June 13 would be the first day of which a vote could be forced through a petition signed by 35 members.

Representative Itaney of Illinois,
the Democratic leader, was designated by the committee to make the adverse report to the House.

The course now open to bonus
advocates is the introduction of a special bill to give the bonus bill
a preferred legislative status. Such a resolution would go to the Rules Committee and should the committee fail to act after seven days, a discharge petition would be in order.

Itaney said that, in view of the forthcoming adjournment of Congress in time for the national convention, the committee action definitely killed any opportunity for a House vote on the bonus issue.

The committee vote on making
an adverse report to the House on cash bonus plans was:

For (15)—Democrats: (5), Columbus, Hainey, Ragan and Republicans: (10), Hawley, Madaway, Bacharach, Hadley,
Timberlake, Watson, McLaughlin,
Chidlow, Crowther and Aldrich.

Against (10)—Democrats:
Baughman, Hill, Canfield, Cullen, Sullivan, Sanders, Edlick, McCorn-
ack, Dickinson and Vinson of Kentucky.

Ragan explained that he had favored the Patman bill, but when it was rejected he voted to make the
adverse report to the House.

ENGLAND WILL KEEP WORD ON WAR DEBTS, PASTOR SAYS

The Rev. W. F. Howard declares,
however, that Germany can-
not pay another cent.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 6.—
Two Englishmen, bearing fraternal greetings from the British Wesleyan Church, today told the
general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church that England
would stand by its war debt obligations, even though believing they
should be revised. Both speakers
praised American prohibition. They are the Rev. Wilbert P. Howard of Birmingham, England, and the
Rev. Parkinson Tomlinson of Poul-
ton-Le-Fylde, a former member of Parliament.

Mr. Howard and Tomlinson said
Britain would stand by her international obligations, "even if it means
selling the coat from her back, and
the taking down of the last picture
from her museums and the last
first edition from her shelves."

"You will never find England
coming to you with a cringing appeal," Dr. Howard said. "Once we have our word, we never request it
back. But America may yet lift
the burden from the nations which
are being crushed beneath it,
speaking as an Englishman, I
know that Germany for one can-
not pay another cent, and it should
not be asked of her."

was nominated as the presidential
candidate of the National party at
the convention in Indianapolis last

cept the nomination. Wilson, 72
years old, he would recommend to the Nominating Committee
of the party that it select Jacob S.
Coxey, Mayor of Massillon, O., and father of the famous "Coxey's

President Tells Congress Budget Must Be Balanced; 'Uncertainty Is Disastrous' in 'National Emergency'

"Government Cannot Be Dictated to by Organized Minorities," He Asserts—Claims of Groups Must Give Way.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 6.

FOLLOWING is the text of President Hoover's message to Congress yesterday declaring that the budget must be balanced and criticizing the House:

I should not be discharging my constitutional responsibility to give to the Congress information on the state of the Union and to recommend for its consideration such measures as may be necessary and expedient, if I did not report to the Congress
the situation which has arisen in the country in large degree as the result of incidents of legislation during the past six weeks.

The most essential factor to economic recovery today is the restoration of confidence. In spite of the unquestioned beneficial effect of the remedial measures already taken and the gradual improvement in fundamental conditions, fear and alarm prevail in the country
because of events in Washington which have greatly disturbed the public mind.

Constructive Work Offset.
The manner in which the House of Representatives rejected both the revenue program proposed by the Treasury and the program unanimously reported by the Committee on Ways and Means; the character of the tax measures passed; the action of the House which would increase governmental expenditure by $132,000,000 for road building;
the action further to enlarge expenditures in non-service
connected benefits for the Veterans' Bureau at the very time when the House was refusing to remedy abuses in these same services; the virtual destruction
of both the national economy
program proposed by the executive officials and the program of the special House Committee on Economy; the failure of the House to give adequate authority for early reduction of Government bureau and commissions; the passage of legislation
by the House placing a burden upon the Federal Reserve System over the protest of the Federal Reserve Board; the threat of further legislation looking to uncontrolled inflation have all resulted in diminishing public confidence and offsetting the constructive efforts of the executive and the Congress undertaken earlier in the year
for recovery of employment and agriculture.

Quick Action Necessary.
I need not recount that the revenues of the Government as estimated for the next fiscal year show a decrease of about $1,700,000,000 below the fiscal year 1932 and inexorably require a broader basis of taxation and a drastic reduction of expenditures in order to balance the budget. Nothing is more necessary at this time than balancing the budget. Nothing will put more heart into the country than prompt and courageous and united action in enacting the legislation which this situation imperatively demands,
and an equally determined stand in defeating unwise and unnecessary legislation.

Most expeditious action is necessary if the revenues, appropriations, economy legislation and a balanced budget are to be attained before the beginning of the new fiscal year on July 1 next.

The details and requirements
of the situation are now well known to the Congress and plainly require:

1. The prompt enactment of a revenue bill adequate to produce the necessary revenue and so designed as to distribute the burdens equitably and not to impede economic recovery.

2. A drastic program of economy which, including the savings already made in the executive budget of $343,000,000,
can be increased to exceed $700,000,000 per annum. Considering that the whole Federal expenditure, except about $1-700,000,000 is for uncontrollable obligations, this would represent an unprecedented reduc-realized until late in the new year or after that.

Many of the recommendations which were rejected by the House of Representatives should again be considered.
Aside from the economy proposals affecting employees which are here included in the above
discussion of the supply bills,
there are opportunities to increase the direct savings provided for in the House economy
bill from $30,000,000 to $130,000,000 to $150,000,000, plus many indeterminate items
which would result in further economies.

Correction of Abuses.
These savings would be over and above the amounts of savings referred to in the direct appropriations. Without going into the merits or demerits of the proposals, they do represent the correction of abuses and the curtailment of unnecessary functions of the Government and embrace items that can be dispensed with during the present critical period.

In the category of economies
that can be made by consolidation, reorganization and elimination of the less necessary bureaus, commissions, etc., the authority given in the measure passed by the House of Representatives is so restricted that it cannot be made effective until late in the next fiscal year.

In order to expedite this economy, I earnestly recommend that the executive be authorized to proceed immediately in the consolidation of public works, and personnel, partly provided in the House economy bill, public health, merchant marine, conservation, education, munitions manufacture, army and navy hospitals, aviation field, and other specific army and navy activities which may advantageously be consolidated for the purpose of economy and more effective administration.

Need Imperative.
The savings to be made are indeterminate, but very considerable. If made by executive action within the above direction from the Congress they can be made promptly.

The imperative need of the nation today is a definite and conclusive program for balancing the budget. Uncertainty is disastrous. It must be in every sense a national program. Sectional, partisan, group or class considerations can have no place in it.

Ours is a Government of all the people, created to protect and promote the common good,
and when the claims of any group or class are inconsistent with the welfare of all, they must give way.

Various groups and sections of the country have brought insistent and delaying pressures to bear for the adoption or rejection of various projects which would yield great economy and revenue. They have not realized that sacrifice by all groups is essential to the salvation of the nation. They have not recognized the gravity of the problem with which we are confronted. They apparently do not know that by their actions
they are imposing losses on members of their own groups
and sections through stagnation,
unemployment, decreased commodity prices, far greater than the sacrifices called for under these suggestions.

Undermining Popular Rule.
The Government cannot be dictated to by organized minorities. Such action will undermine all popular government. I know that the suggestions do not reflect the will of the country,
and I refuse to believe that the country is unable to reflect its will in legislation.

In conclusion let me urge the national necessity of prompt
and resolute and unified action,
keeping constantly in mind the larger aspects of the problem and that the necessity for these measures is born of a great national emergency. If such a program should be agreed to by the leaders and members of both houses it would go far to restore business, employment and agriculture alike, it would have a most reassuring effect on the country.

In the category of further economies which can only be made by changes in laws which would give authority to the executive and the Appropriations Committees, many items were proposed by executive officers of the Government, and some portions of them were embodied in the bill presented by the special Economy Committee to the House of Representatives. Less than $30,000,000 direct and definite savings were covered in the bill which finally passed the House. Many of the indeterminate and indirect savings in that legislation cannot be

SENATE VOTES TO BUILD NAVY TO TREATY LIMITS

Hale Bill Merely Authorizes
Construction and Carries No Appropriation—Goes to House.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—The Senate today passed the Hale bill
to bring the Navy up to treaty limits.

The vote was 44 to 21.

The measure carries no appropriation. It authorizes construction of the American Navy to the limits prescribed by the London and Washington treaty agreements. The total program would involve approximately a billion dollars. The President would be authorized to suspend it upon the conclusion of any new limitations agreement.

The legislation now goes to the House where the Naval Committee favors the bill but has agreed not to press it at this time.

The bill was vigorously opposed
by Senator Nye (Rep.), North Dakota, as a waste of money and "a program of national suicide."

"Here we are," he said, "about to shut our eyes and swallow this increased burden of taxation and continue the Government in the most wasteful enterprise known to man."

Our greatest dangers are from within, not from without our borders," he asserted. "All the armies of Europe, Asia and Africa combined, with a Bonaparte as a commander, could not by force take a drink from the Ohio River or leave a track on the Blue Ridge in a thousand years."

Assailing "propaganda" which he said has driven Congress into a
"hysteria" of effort to economize
and balance the budget, Nye protested against using money derived from cutting the salaries of low-income Government employees
"to build battleships."

Senator George W. Norris, Progressive Republican of Nebraska, announced last night that he would support Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York for the Presidency if he is nominated by the Democrats.

Norris in 1928 made speeches for Alfred E. Smith against the candidacy of Herbert Hoover. He never has been regular in his party affiliations.

"History," Norris said, "has demonstrated that I was right in opposing him (Hoover) four years ago. He has not done anything he said he was going to do."

Norris a year ago at a "Progressive" conference here said the times called for another Roosevelt.
But he explained then that he was thinking of a reincarnation of the noted President, and not so much,
if at all, of his distant relative.

Nebraska Republicans Indorse
Hoover and Praise Norris.

LINCOLN, Neb., May 6.—Just before Senator George W. Norris announced in Washington last night he had decided not to support President Hoover for re-election, the Nebraska Republicans, in State convention here yesterday,
indorsed the President and praised the senior Nebraska Senator for the lame-duck amendment and the anti-injunction labor bill. Hoover was praised especially for "courageous leadership to maintain American standards of living."

The executions took place

nal, Queretaro, the dispatch said,
after troops had put to flight a band of insurrectionists and captured the five, including their leader, Castulo Vega.

MEXICO CITY, May 6.—The newspaper Universal Grafico said
yesterday that troops under Gen.

mander of Queretaro, had executed
five men charged with sedition and insurrection.

The executions took place
Wednesday near Hacienda de Ber-

U. S. FOREIGN TRADE BALANCE OF $23,912,793 IN MARCH

Increase in Exports to Five Countries as Compared to Same Month in 1931.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—The United States had a favorable foreign trade balance of $23,912,793
in March with exports of $155-254,002 and imports of $131,341-209.

Final revised figures for the month showing distribution of exports and imports by grand division show increases in exports to five countries as compared with the same month in 1931. Total exports, however, were approximately $79,000,000 less than in March,
1931. Greece, the Irish Free State, British India, China and the Philippines showed slight increases
in the amount of American goods

A Call to Battle.

WHAT has become of the once proud United States? Have fire and pestilence laid waste her wondrous cities and fertile fields?

Where two or three people foregather, the subject of their conversation suggests that we have reached the nadir of disaster. Defeatism is rampant and our people are wallowing in the slough of despond.

True, many millions are out of employment. Many of us are objects of charity. Fear and worry have so obsessed us that reason is atrophied.

Physicians admit that the will to recover is more helpful to a patient than medicine. The imperative need today is the development of an inflexible will to recover on the part of the people. No longer can we permit the cancer of fear to destroy our spirit and morale. We must arouse the individual to new hope and revitalize his spirit.

It is a strange paradox that with the richest country the world has ever seen, we have permitted the world to believe that by our own appraisal it is a bankrupt nation. Too prone are we as individuals to sit by awaiting a miracle.

One hundred and twenty million people cannot be beaten if they uselessly unite and present a bold front in a concerted offensive against the depression. We need leadership and, if the crisis of business or the halls of government cannot produce it, then rest assured it will come from the ranks of the discontented, and which way shall it lead? Timid and pusillanimous leaders, whether in government, industry or finance, must stand aside. Red-blooded, sane, common-sense leaders of judgment are needed now.

Every instrumentality must be enlisted in the contest which confronts us. Business, finance, labor, press, pulpit, civic organizations, must all unite in a major engagement against the common foe.

We need the courage and sublime faith of the Pilgrim Fathers which sustained them in their battle against savage, famine and disease to get a foothold here. Have our materialism and prosperity made us a soft, spineless, saffron-blooded race, too proud or lazy to fight the challenge of the present economic emergency? Are we worthy of the "right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness?"

Let every person banish fear. Let us resolve that the fervent American spirit still lives. Let us dedicate ourselves to the work that confronts us.

Our nation, once aroused with renewed hope and ambition, can prove to the world that the worst is past, that we are now headed for the heights of prosperity and normalcy.

With courage, faith and perseverance, we can show the world "America triumphant." EDWIN J. DONNELLY.

Telling Mr. Boyd-Carpenter.

TO the Editor of the Post-Dispatch: I HAVE often noted, not without incredulity, the inherent pride of the Englishman in his native land, but never have I found it more apparent than in Mr. Boyd-Carpenter's attack in the Saturday Review (London) on American education (recently reprinted in the Post-Dispatch).

Having witnessed for four years the many deficiencies of the American machine-made system, one doesn't cherish sufficient pride to rise to its defense. One is merely given to wondering what Mr. Boyd-Carpenter finds so praiseworthy in the British aristocratic education of which he so proudly speaks. Judging by results, Oxford is producing a race of noble-minded morons who are willing and glad to get themselves shot for their country, or in 1914 was it for "democracy and civilization"? Its graduates shut their minds to the economic factors underlying all national policies, internal and foreign, and prate of the League of Nations and world peace.

Such national egotism as that displayed by Mr. Boyd-Carpenter is a form of intellectual blindness and bigotry which education should eradicate. However, far too deeply ingrained in the English mind is the belief that the Anglo-Saxon race is destined to be the predominant force in the history of the world. To Mr. Boyd-Carpenter, England is being "noble" when she attempts to control world markets (as she did before 1850) and to flood them with her own products. England is being "noble" to the natives of India when she burdens them with taxes to support British officials, often Oxford graduates, during their exile there. While participating in a debate at the University of Missouri last fall, Mr. Boyd-Carpenter made the statement that the business men of England had nothing to do with the building of a tariff wall. Would he have us believe that here, too, is an example of England's noble interest in the "people?"

If the British Government is attempting to hide its desire for economic supremacy under a wave of sentimentalism, then Oxford is doing its part by blinding its graduates to the truth.

With ruin upon ruin, ruin on ruin,
Confusion worse confounded.

The spectacle which is presented by Congress today may well dismay the country. By cravenly submitting to the pressure of special interests, it has written legislation which cannot but prove damaging to the best interests of our people. By abandoning itself to a panic psychology, it has foisted upon the public measures which must seriously impair confidence and threaten the attainment of industrial stability.

The House, by a vote of 316 to 67, emasculated the economy bill, reducing its $200,000,000 of proposed savings to an insignificant $30,000,000. Pressure from departments and interested groups affected by the measure procured the elimination of one after another of its provisions. Rejection of the proposed combination of the War and Navy departments cost $50,000,000 to $100,000,000. Rejection of economies in the Veterans' Bureau cost another $45,000,000. As a result, the prospects of obtaining even a fictitious balance in the Federal budget seem more remote than ever.

The elimination of the Veterans' Bureau item was a particularly flagrant piece of political expediency. This bureau is now spending a billion dollars a year on relief. This is nearly a quarter of our national budget. Nearly half of this amount is being paid to persons who are suffering from disabilities which were not incurred in the service. Indeed, it appears upon good authority that many of these persons have incomes which should enable them to take good care of themselves without the aid of subsidies from the Federal Treasury. Yet this privileged minority can exert sufficient political pressure to block the economies for which the present fiscal emergency so desperately calls. Nor is this all. For, if history repeats itself, Congress will acquiesce in a further conscienceless raid upon the public purse by passing the bonus legislation which is still pending.

In the Senate, too, the Committee on Finance is yielding to special interests in its handling of the revenue bill. Excises are being raised and lowered, added and dropped, as one business group after another voices its protests. Even more disheartening is the committee's acquiescence in the drive for the inclusion of further restrictive tariffs in the tax bill. The duties on lumber, copper, coal and oil, which have been written into this measure, have no fiscal significance. They are tariff favors pure and simple, and as such they will provide further commentary on open lobbying and outrageous log-rolling. This apotasy was accomplished, to the shame of the Democratic party, with the support of four Democratic Senators—Connally, Gore, King and Barkley.

It remained only for the House to crown this folly by passing, by a vote of 289 to 60, the Goldborough bill, which ordered the Federal Reserve Board to restore prices to the 1926 level and keep them there. This is panic legislation and nothing more. The Reserve Board utterly lacks the power to carry out this mandate. It is uncertain whether, through its discount and open market operations, it can raise prices at all. It is absolutely powerless to put them back where they were in 1926. Nor does the Goldborough bill give the board any new power. If it becomes a law, it will only pave the way for further attacks upon the Reserve System, for fiat money issues and deliberately insane inflation. It will start us on the road which ends in the flight of capital and abandonment of the gold standard. Not even Germany in her present extremity proposes any such idiocy. She has been through one period of headlong inflation and she knows what it means.

The passage of the Goldborough bill can mean only that the members of the House have sacrificed the country's best interests in response to the pressure which is now being exerted upon them by special groups.

Where will all this end? Are we headed for the economic dark ages?

Are we bent on economic suicide? Must we plunge from depression into panic? Are we bound to destroy the whole structure of modern capitalism before we begin to build a new prosperity? Washington is giving way to terror. The country desperately needs leadership. But that leadership is not yet in sight.

A COSTLY EXPERIENCE.

A receivership may be a rather costly experience for a railroad. It certainly was in the case of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul. If the figures are correct in an article reprinted from the New York World-Telegram, Judge Wilkerson, in whose court the proceedings took place, allowed receivership fees of $2,100,000, and the compensation of the reorganization managers was approximately $9,000,000.

This experience may account for the Interstate Commerce Commission's attitude toward the latest loan of the Reconstruction Corporation to the Frisco. The commission has approved the loan on condition that the Frisco's management prepare an acceptable plan for effecting a substantial reduction in fixed interest charges before July 1. According to Barron's Weekly, "The thought apparently in the mind of the commission is to avoid the expense of a receivership."

Frisco executives are at work upon a plan which they hope will be approved by the commission. That hope is shared by all friends of this great railroad property.

Baboons and monkeys in Africa are raiding the orchards and gardens of their farmer neighbors. In another evolutionary generation or two, those chaps will be full-fledged racketeers.

COL. INGERSOLL.

Burial of the ashes of Col. Robert G. Ingersoll in Arlington National Cemetery passed off almost unnoticed, though it had been proposed at his death in 1899, it would undoubtedly have caused a storm of criticism. At a time when dogmatic beliefs were held with considerably more narrowness and tenacity than they are today, Col. Ingersoll dared to go about the country airing his agnostic views, attacking the literal interpretation of the Bible and denying the postulates of organized religion. The price Col. Ingersoll paid for maintenance of his intellectual integrity cannot be calculated, but, at least, it may be said it cost him a brilliant political career.

In the light of events of the last 30 years, Col. Ingersoll's utterances seem curiously old-fashioned. He used the flowery oratorical method in his attacks upon dogma, since superseded by the coldly analytical scientific approach. Our Menckens and Darrows, even some of our liberal preachers, make Col. Ingersoll's rhetoric seem like so much pretty ornamentation. He can be classed as a great heretic.

only when viewed in the framework of time and mores from which he spoke. With the mellowing influence of the years, we believe few will begrudge his remains the honor just bestowed upon them.

SMALL BUSINESSES IN THE DEPRESSION.

The midlets of the business world are often overlooked in our awe at the vast activities of the commercial mammoths, yet the smaller establishments play an important part in the nation's economy. They are now gaining new recognition for the high average of success they have shown in weathering the depression. Their quick adaptability, compact organization, low overhead and careful policies have enabled many of these smaller concerns to trim their sails and ride before the economic gale, while some of the larger firms have proved unwieldy craft in the stormy seas. It has been something of a debunking process. As Dr. Julius Klein, Assistant Secretary of Commerce, expressed it in a recent radio address, "This depression has brought home to us that mere size is not desirable in itself."

With absentee management, larger concerns have found it impossible to make the quick decisions necessary to meet the current fluctuations. While a far-off board of directors or a distant committee is rumormongering, the little man may step in and sell the goods. The small concern is not so likely to have taken the mushroom or the pyramid as the model for its commercial architecture; it is neither over-expanded nor involved with profitless affiliates and parasitic holding companies.

Smallness of size is often a technical asset in these times, although mass production methods have not, of course, outlived their usefulness, but are likely to be modified for use in smaller units. A current example is the steel company that refused a half-million-dollar order—it would not have paid to reopen one of its plants to fill it. To a small firm, on the other hand, the order was manna from heaven.

The current trend is all to the good. Undoubtedly, business was growing too fast and to excessive proportions. The larger firms are learning the lesson, and are placing their plants in separated localities, planning their sales campaigns in local units rather than on a nation-wide scale. The small concern, locally owned and managed, is a community asset, while the profits of the huge companies usually are drawn from the local field and sent eastward.

Discussion of loosening the anti-trust laws must take these smaller concerns into consideration. They would speedily succumb to merger or failure if their larger rivals were enabled to close the field to competition. And by their capability in the depression, the smaller firms have proved their worthiness to survive.

SMITH, McADOO AND HEARST.

The scene was Madison Square Garden. The year, 1924. Alfred E. Smith in this corner. William Gibbs McAdoo in the other corner. A great fight, at the end of which John W. Davis was chosen to drive the corpse of the Democratic party to the cemetery. Mr. Smith and Mr. McAdoo are fighting again, but this time they are on the same side, or at least animated by the same motive, namely, to kill off Franklin Roosevelt. They may succeed. Mr. Smith won the Massachusetts delegation and, as he phrased it, "put a 'check' under the bandwagon." Now Mr. McAdoo's candidacy, Speaker Garner has captured the California delegation, and Washington is announcing that "Roosevelt is stopped."

In 1932 going to repeat at Chicago the New York convention of 1924? The Smith-McAdoo combination, with William Randolph Hearst beaming a benediction, may do that very thing.

SAVING SIGHT.

The work of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness may be summarized as devoted largely to saving humanity from the consequences of its own ill judgment and carelessness. Since loss of sight from many causes, including numerous instances of accident and disease, is preventable, there is a wide field open to the organization, and a vast return in human happiness is the result of each step toward universal adoption of safeguards.

Beginning with birth, the society stresses the necessity for treating the eyes of newborn infants, now required almost everywhere by law. The progress in this direction is indicated by comparative figures in the society's annual report, just issued: 7.5 per cent of admissions to schools for the blind in 1931 were victims of ophthalmia neonatorum (or "babies' sore eyes"), while in 1907 the figure was 23 per cent. The society takes occasion to warn parents of dangers that menace their children's vision from unheeded sources, such as firecrackers, air guns and sharp-pointed toys. These can be reached only in part by legislation, but the parents' discretion is all important. Another important item in preservation of vision among children is the work of sight-saving classes in public schools.

In the industrial field, a great deal has been accomplished by use of safety devices, but much remains to be done. It is estimated that each year 2000 workmen lose the sight of one or both eyes, that 300,000 minor eye injuries are incurred in the same time, while the waste in medical costs, compensation and time lost is estimated at $50,000,000 a year. All this despite the fact that, as the report says, "most industrial eye accidents are preventable."

While science is making progress in finding out about the ill that beset man's most precious sense, such an organization serves a valuable purpose with its warnings and teachings of prevention.

BRAZIL SLASHES A TARIFF.

Brazil has had a short, costly experience with the tariff, has seen the error of her ways, repented and reformed. A few weeks ago, heavy duties were placed on movie films, which, producers said, would close more than half of the theaters in the country. The predicted result presumably followed. Anyhow, President Getulio Vargas has issued a decree, cutting duties to the minimum. On educational films, a reduction of 90 per cent has been ordered, and 60 per cent on the Hollywood school of fine arts. So Brazil will go to the picture shows again, and the moderate levy, it is expected, will yield more revenue than the destructive tax which was drying up the source, and government by executive ukase, though potentially dangerous, can function in an emergency. And every flight from the tariff is news, and good news.

Missouri's gubernatorial campaign has touched a new low, with the candidates squabbling about the Ku Klux Klan, about as live a subject as the slavery issue.

EVOLUTION OF A GANGSTER.

Wages and Mass Consumption

Many producers, in their competitive struggle for profits, look upon wages as merely another cost, to be kept low as possible; for industry as a whole, however, reduced pay means a smaller market; reductions in time of economic crisis aggravate depression; women and children are forced to work, lowering standards of society.

Henry Pratt Fairchild, Professor of Sociology, New York University, in Harper's. (Reprinted by Permission.)

UNDER a system of private ownership of businesses, and the consequent competitive struggle for profits, wages are looked upon by producers primarily as an important—often the most extensive—factor in the cost of production. Every dollar cut from the labor bill appears to be a dollar added to the possible margin of profit. This looks like plain and simple arithmetic. And for the single producer it is. But not for all producers. For wages are exactly as important an element in the purchasing power of the market as they are in the cost of production. Every dollar cut from wages takes a dollar away from the total effective demand for products.

Probably very few producers catch this vision of the relationship, and those who do are not much impressed by it. For the saving in the cost of production is immediate and specific; the loss in the market is remote and diffused. Every dollar that John Smith can save out of wages in his radio factory slips smoothly and directly into his own pocket. The loss in purchasing power is spread over 10,000 products, and only an infinitesimal fraction of it ever comes back to him. If he is manufacturing something like steel rails or steamship boilers, which none of his employees ever actually purchases, he feels none of the loss directly. In any case, the matter-of-fact employer is glad enough to seize the immediate profit, and take his chance with the eventual loss, paying little heed to the rumbling of a distant drum.

But the extension of this practice to any large number of producers means eventual disaster not only to those who do adopt it, or those who do not, but to all producers alike, and the community in general. The readiness with which employers resort to this expedient of lowering wages whenever hard times threaten is precisely one of the reasons depressions gain headway so rapidly and last so long.

A correlative procedure takes place on the part of the employees. When wages are low, or the temptation to increase the family income is great, the natural thing seems to be for the wife and children to go out to work, and thus to add their earnings to the wages of the "natural bread-winner." This may work very well for the individual family, which naturally becomes an object of envy to the neighbors. They begin to follow suit.

But so soon as any considerable number of wage earners begin to increase the family income in this way, the employers of labor perceive that these incomes are now more than sufficient to enable the worker to keep himself alive and raise up an adequate contribution to the next generation of laborers. So they begin to cut wages. And as wages go down, more and more families are forced to send their wives and children to work in order to keep from starvation, and so the evil system becomes firmly entrenched.

The whole economic history of the nineteenth century furnishes a striking illustration of this principle and this process. With the introduction of the new machines and factory processes that marked the beginning of the industrial revolution, the old skilled workers found themselves no longer in demand. The new kind of work could be done profitably by children of 10, 12 and 14 years. So there arose the amazing spectacle of self-respecting and expert craftsmen staying at home in idleness and keeping house while their little children went out to work and earned the family bread. In time, of course, there arose a generation that had unlearned its technical skill, abandoned its pride of craftsmanship, and was content to be a docile cog in a machine. By this time, labor conditions had sunk so low that only a new type of legislation—that is, definitely socialized action—prevented the development of an industrial system that would have made the present sorry picture look like a paradise.

Under the individualistic system of capitalist production, the theory of wages that comes closest to the facts is the old "iron law," interpreted in terms of the family rather than the individual. The family income of the laboring class tends on average to fall to the minimum necessary to keep the workers alive and in a state of fair economic efficiency and to keep a continuous crop of new workers flowing into the gaps left vacant by the elimination of the old. If social custom or law allows only one bread-winner in the family, his income cannot fall below this amount. If, on the contrary, there are several earners in the typical family, their total income cannot rise much above this point.

It is very doubtful whether the wage-earning class as a whole in Western countries is one whit better off economically than it would have been if all industrial labor of women and children had been rigidly prohibited for the last century and a half—and it is much worse off in other ways. For the institutions of woman and child labor have become so entrenched in our social system that it is quite generally taken for granted in the lower economic levels that the children of the household will begin to take their part in adding to the family income as soon as the law permits them to, and that the wife and mother will stand ready to add her contribution.

Thus the children are deprived of the ordinary developmental experiences of play recreation, prolonged education and the natural care and attention of the mother, while the latter is subjected to the strain and fatigue of industrial life in addition to the ordinary demands of the home. Only the operation of social laws regulating woman and child labor and education maintain the family situation even on its present low plane.

With a constant surplus of labor available, and competing for employment, employers can get the whole family group—or practically the same wage that they would have to pay a single responsible breadwinner.

A Standard Is Raised

By Walter Lippmann.

THE petition presented to the President and Congress by Capt. Archibald B. Roosevelt on behalf of the National Economy Committee is by all odds the most impressive move yet made toward a real reduction in Federal expenditure. The petition strikes at the heart of the most expensive abuse in the Federal budget—the enormous sums amounting, it is estimated, to about $450,000,000, which are being paid to veterans of the World War and of the Spanish-American War who suffered no injury while in the service.

These payments are about 10 per cent of the budget. They are equal, to half the money which is to be raised by the laying of new taxes. They represent no moral obligation of the American people, unless it is to be assumed that any man who ever wore a uniform is forever entitled to special privileges.

The petition is a demand that Congress return to the fundamental principle which the whole country approved when the war was in progress; that it undo the mass of legislation which in the course of 10 years has fastened upon the country the necessity of enormous payments for men to whom it has no financial obligation whatever. Not only is this a true economy but it is a something much more important—it is a challenge to a system of legalized privilege which is unjust and is corrupting both to public men and to the voters.

It was high time that a standard of resistance was raised by the veterans themselves. Now it has been done by Capt. Roosevelt and his associates. We shall now see whether the American people, when they are offered strong and unimpeachable leadership, will rally to the defense of their rights and of the national integrity. (Copyright, 1932.)

"WE MUST LET OUR MINDS BE BOLD."

From the Brooklyn Daily Eagle.

THESE stirring words are from Justice Brandeis dissenting opinion in defending the right of states to experiment in trying to find solutions for economic problems. Why shouldn't those responsible for the Federal Government let their minds be bold?

Why not boldly face the fact that war debts and reparations may never be paid? Why not boldly grasp the truths apparent in the Russian experiment, recognize the Soviet regime and resume trade relations with the Russian people?

Why not read the figures on our foreign trade and boldly determine to do something to end the tariff barriers that are paralyzing world commerce?

Why not boldly resolve to reorganize the Federal Government, lop off unnecessary bureaus, reduce salaries at the top and help balance the budget by cutting down expenditures?

Why not boldly deal with the prohibition problem, modifying the Volstead Act as a starter and paving the way for a referendum on the eighteenth amendment?

Why not deal boldly with the railroad problem, compelling the railroads as a condition precedent to securing financial aid from the Government, to pool their facilities and cut out the waste involved in the present senseless competition for business that doesn't exist?

"If we would guide by the light of reason," Justice Brandeis declares, "we must let our minds be bold."

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

MISS CONSTANCE VAN DUYN, Syracuse, N. Y., who is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Walter Westerman Shipley, 484 Lake avenue, is being entertained extensively at small parties. Yesterday Mrs. Carl F. G. Meyer, 739 Maryland drive, gave a luncheon for her at the St. Louis Woman's Club, and tonight Mr. and Mrs. Shipley will have a dinner, at which the guests will include Mr. and Mrs. Donald Gibbons, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hanson, Hubbell, Mr. and Mrs. David O'Connell Burruss Jr., and Mrs. Cuyler Ross McGinley, Miss Mary D. Shipley, debutante sister of the host; William Lytton and William Volt.

Mr. and Mrs. Burruss will entertain a group of friends at an informal mixed tea for Miss Van Duyn, Saturday afternoon, and that night Mr. and Mrs. Shipley will give a circus party for the visitor. On Monday afternoon Mrs. Marion Stuhl of the Kingsbury apartments will give a luncheon at St. Albans, Mo., and Tuesday night Miss Shipley will be hostess at a dinner at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Shipley, 9 Dartford avenue. Miss Van Duyn will be here about 10 days.

A sister of Mrs. John Wilkinson Jr., a former classmate of Mrs. Shipley at college, who has visited here several times.

Mrs. Shipley's sister and brother, Miss Sally and Jack Green, daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. John Leigh Green, 12 Kingsbury place, are expected home about the last of this month from Tucson, Ariz., where they spent the winter.

The Junior League Service Bureau, affiliated with the St. Louis Chapter of the Junior League, is planning a "white elephant sale" beginning Monday morning at 9 o'clock in the basement of the bureau, 302 North Euclid avenue. Donations of household articles no longer needed, clothing, furniture and antiques are being received for the sale, which will be carried on until the supply of articles is exhausted. The funds will be used for organization expenses.

Mrs. Bladell Shapleigh is chairman of the board of the Service Bureau, and Mrs. George E. Clark and Mrs. J. Keith Payne are in charge of the sale. The executive committee of the bureau in addition to Mrs. Shapleigh, are Miss Georgia Elliot, vice president; Mrs. M. Hayward Post, secretary; Mrs. Charles Lucas Hunt, treasurer, and Mrs. Sears Lehmann, Mrs. Lynton T. Block, Mrs. Aaron S. Raur and Mrs. Stanley Stoner.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Bernhard Behr, New York, who made their home until a few months ago on Wydown terrace, will arrive in St. Louis the middle of next week to spend ten days with Mr. Behr's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Gale Barstow of the Chestfield apartments. Several parties are being planned in their honor.

Mrs. W. E. Sauer, 6309 McPherson avenue, has returned from a visit of several weeks in California. Several St. Louisans will attend the Kentucky Derby to be run in Louisville, tomorrow, although the list is not so long as that of previous years. Mr. and Mrs. George R. Wendling, 4509 Pershing avenue, will leave St. Louis today by motor, and will be the guests of Mrs. Wendling's mother, Mrs. John Avery Haldeman. Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Grable, Webster Groves, departed Tuesday to remain until next week. Miss Virginia Simmons, daughter of Mrs. George Welch Simmons, 21 Westmoreland place, has gone to join her brother, Richard Simmons, and a party of friends from Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Eden Norris, 6289 Westminster place, and their son, Ernest Eden Jr., will attend the races, joining Mrs. Norris' niece, Mrs. Cecil Allen, and later will go to New York for several days. Mr. A. Hamilton Handlan, 4322 McPherson avenue, and Mrs. Gustave Bischoff Jr., Forest Ridge, went to Louisville Wednesday and will return Sunday.

Mrs. B. A. Rice, 510 Atlanta avenue, Webster Groves, was hostess yesterday afternoon at a bridge luncheon at Hotel Lennox. Her guests included Mrs. J. A. Rice, Mrs. E. French, Mrs. R. Beckerman, Mrs. F. Owings, Mrs. N. Rogers, Mrs. R. Owings and Mrs. George Dearborn.

The young women students of the John Burroughs School will entertain their mothers at an all-day mothers' and daughters' party today. Luncheon will be served at 1 o'clock, and an entertainment will be given this afternoon.

Miss Judith Oliver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy W. Oliver, is chairman of the hostesses, and other members of the committee are Miss Frances Bixby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold M. Bixby; Miss Ellen Kline, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. D. Kline; Miss Ruth Stevens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Stevens; and Mrs. F. E. Walton of the faculty.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Akin, 3 University lane, are expected home today from New York, where they have been at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

A marionette show of Bluebeard is to be presented tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock at the Junior League clubrooms by Miss Beatrice Kroeger and Miss Catherine McMahon. This is one of a series being given during the season.

The Woman's Club of St. Louis University School of Medicine has elected the following officers: Mrs. Harvey S. McKay, president; Mrs. Carroll Smith, first vice president; Mrs. Madison Fulton, secretary, and Mrs. Ellsworth Kneal, treasurer.

The annual spring luncheon will be given at the St. Louis Medical Society Building Monday, May 23. Arrangements are in charge of the Hospitality Committee.

WESTERN ARTS GROUP HOLDS FINAL SESSIONS

Vienna Director Warns Against Too Much System in Developing Talent.

The Western Arts Association conducted the final sessions today at Hotel Jefferson of its thirty-eighth annual convention with 500 art instructors in public schools from Ohio to the Rocky Mountains in attendance.

Formal sessions will conclude tonight, with addresses by Dr. Homer J. Smith, professor of industrial education, University of Minnesota; and Florence Fallgatter, Federal agent for home economics education.

Dr. Eugen Gustav Steinhof, director, National School of Decorative Art, Vienna, who lectures this afternoon on "The Discovery of the Student's Personality," spoke yesterday on methods of developing the pupil's talent.

Warning against too much system, Dr. Steinhof said: "Young men under any system, classical or modern, are the victims of a triumphant routine. Before they are able to flourish their fantasy dries up and dies with the exception of those prodigious talents who can resist all the experience taught in this manner."

Comparing engineering and plastic arts, Dr. Steinhof pointed out engineering seeks to form ideas; the arts, emotions. Certain qualities of both should be blended, he said.

"The only one of the plastic arts which has saved itself is architecture," Dr. Steinhof continued, "because it is most firmly linked with the world of modern thought, the world of engineering. We may not find the new art in copying engineering but in the circle of our modern feelings and spiritual hopes; these are more in evidence today in engineering than in the arts of present day painting and sculpture. They are involved still in procedures of the great past."

Dr. Steinhof detailed his methods of art instruction which, he said, preserved the pupil's originality and unified his ideas. Care is taken, he added, to see that the student does not confuse vanity with originality.

Comparing engineering and plastic arts, Dr. Steinhof pointed out engineering seeks to form ideas; the arts, emotions. Certain qualities of both should be blended, he said.

"The only one of the plastic arts which has saved itself is architecture," Dr. Steinhof continued, "because it is most firmly linked with the world of modern thought, the world of engineering. We may not find the new art in copying engineering but in the circle of our modern feelings and spiritual hopes; these are more in evidence today in engineering than in the arts of present day painting and sculpture. They are involved still in procedures of the great past."

FIRST CIRCUS OF YEAR LIVES UP TO TRADITION

All the Old Features and Some New Ones on Sells-Floto Program.

Summer time and playtime officially began for the kids—with all the implications in noise, dust, perspiration and sticky fingers—when the Sells-Floto circus started its 1932 season under canvas yesterday with the opening of its annual engagement at Grand boulevard and Laclede avenue.

All the old trappings were there in fresh gilt and spangles, and all the old stunts with a fresh twist, from the "unemployed" sign on the hobo in the clown parade to the spectacular pyramid-building, far up under the big top, of a high-wire troupe announced as "Sells-Floto's latest importation from Europe."

The old things—the cowboys and elephants with trunks outstretched to take peanuts from tiny, timorous fingers—appealed most to young St. Louis. But by no means did young St. Louis show the only interest.

Dozens of parents were holding their breath and sitting on sea-edges long after the smallest children had begun to tire, and some remained for the Wild West show—with Cossacks as well as cowboys—which followed the main show at 25 cents extra. Dozens, some of them white-haired, attended without recourse to the pretense, "for the children."

These veterans seemed to get a kick out of everything. They waved at the lady trapeze performers, gasped when a hippodrome racer was thrown almost under the heels of the following team, argued over the skill of this or that trained seal, chuckled at the canine friskiness of an escaped "hot dog," and roared when a mulish al fresco taxicab got away from its driver and clattered around the ring without him.

The circus will remain in St. Louis through Sunday night, giving performances at 2 p. m. and 8 p. m. daily.

MAYOR WON'T SPONSOR BEER PARADE, HE SAYS

Decision Follows "Mass Meeting" Vote of 7 to 4 Against It.

Mayor Miller today said he would write to the Board of Aldermen that he could not sponsor a beer parade one week from tomorrow afternoon, as a majority of the Aldermen recently asked him to do. The reason is that he has found hardly anyone who desires such a parade or would take part in it.

The last straw was the meeting held yesterday afternoon in the Board of Public Service room at City Hall. Thirteen persons attended, of whom seven voted against holding a parade, four voted for a parade, and two children, present with their parents, did not vote. City Register Grosse took down the proceedings and reported it to the Mayor.

Grosse said at the meeting that he had called on August A. Busch, who had handed him a copy of a letter he had written to Congressman Dyer about the parade plan. The letter told of opposition to the parade plan, on the part of persons who advocate modification of the Volstead act and repeal of the eighteenth amendment, but who think the parade would be ineffectual and a needless expense. "I, too, feel," Busch wrote, "that with conditions as serious as they are, the unemployed and unfortunate should and must receive our first consideration." He feared, under the circumstances, that the parade would fall flat and create an unfavorable impression.

James W. Byrnes, State head of the Association Against Prohibition, said the cost would not be great and that a large demonstration could be organized if there were time, but that a week was not long enough. He seconded the motion of Mrs. E. V. Reynolds, representing the Greater St. Louis Republican Club, that the plan be dropped. One man who voted for a parade said it should be held July 4.

HOUSE PASSES ANOTHER MUSCLE SHOALS BILL

It Contains Government Operation Provision Which Caused Previous Vetoes.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 3. — The House yesterday passed another Muscle Shoals bill and sent it to the Senate. Again the plan to dispose of the $140,000,000 Alabama properties contained a Government operation provision, twice the chief cause of presidential vetoes.

The standing count on final passage was 183 to 132. A few minutes earlier an effort by administration Republicans to eliminate the Government operation alternative was defeated by a 200-to-149 record vote.

Last year the House ballot on the Norris Muscle Shoals Bill, introduced by President Hoover, was 216 to 153.

But the 1932 plan, introduced by Representative Hill (Dem.), Alabama, contained more liberal leasing provisions. Further, it halves Government control of the power at the switchboard instead of authorizing the building of transmission lines.

The Hill bill creates a Government board of three to lease the nitrate plants. If no private contract is obtained in 18 months, it directs the board to begin operation, though a lease may be written at any time thereafter if a satisfactory bid is received.

Chairman McSwain of the Military Committee, who directed the bill's passage, described this section as "a little thin slice of Government operation in between two nice juicy slices of private operation."

STREET CAR MEN HELD FOR KILLING OF WOMAN

Verdict of Criminal Carelessness in Fatality at Easton and Belt.

A Coroner's verdict of criminal carelessness was returned today in the death of Mrs. William G. Wagner, who was struck by a Wellston street car at Easton and Belt avenues last night.

Witnesses testified Mrs. Wagner, who was 70 years old and resided at 3553 Terry avenue, was crossing Easton at a regular crossing point. The car was traveling at an estimated speed of 25 miles an hour. Mrs. Wagner was dragged about 30

Verdict of Criminal Carelessness in Fatality at Easton and Belt.

A coroner's verdict of criminal carelessness was returned today in the death of Mrs. William G. Wagner, who was struck by a Wellston street car at Easton and Belt avenues last night.

The verdict directed that Motorist Arthur McKean, 4057 St. Ferdinand avenue, and Conductor John A. Miller, 1916 Semple avenue, be held on bond pending investigation by the grand jury.

A representative of the Circuit Attorney's office, who attended the hearing, stated that, in his opinion, the evidence was not sufficient to warrant an indictment.

Insurance Man Ends Life. TOPEKA, Kan., May 6.—Arthur M. French, 38 years old, assistant secretary of the Bank Savings Life Insurance Co., shot and killed himself at his home here early today.

E. H. Lupton Jr., president of the company, said so far as he was aware there were no irregularities in French's accounts. French is survived by his widow and a son.

Army Parachute Jumper Killed. By the Associated Press. SACRAMENTO, Cal., May 6.—Sergeant Alfred Miller, 25 years old, of the Army Air Corps, plunged 2500 feet to his death in a practice parachute jump yesterday. He wore two parachutes, neither of which opened. Army officials said the rip cords had not been pulled.

Crab Canapes.

Melt two tablespoons butter and add two tablespoons flour. Stir in one-half cup milk and cook to a thick sauce. Remove from fire, add one teaspoon lemon juice, one-half teaspoon dry mustard, one cup flaked crabmeat, salt to taste and one-half teaspoon Worcestershire sauce. Spread in a thick layer on small oblongs of toast. Garnish with tiny diamonds cut from scalded green pepper and place one in the center of each canape, and with slices of stuffed olive.

INDIA TEA

YOUR TASTE is the TEST... One taste of correctly made India Tea and you'll want it often. So will your family and your friends. India Tea has "more to it" ... more flavor, fragrance and strength. To get India Tea, look for the trademark (above) on the packages of genuine India Tea.

DAINTY SANDWICHES FOR MAY BRIDGE PARTIES

Remove all fat and skin from cooked veal and mince enough to make two cups. Combine with four tablespoons mint sauce and one-third teaspoon salt. Chill a little and spread between slices of white buttered bread with a little lettuce in each sandwich.

Peel and thinly slice a cucumber, marinate in French dressing, drain well and spread on thin buttered slices of Graham bread. Cover with small slices of crisp lettuce dipped in same dressing.

Add four tablespoons minced stuffed olives to two cups minced celery, season with salt, paprika and lemon juice, and moisten with French dressing. Spread on Boston brown bread.

PLANNING THE MENU: RECIPES FOR WEEK

Special Dinner for Mother's Day With Savory Creamed Chicken.

As Sunday is Mother's day, there is an especially good dinner planned in the "Menus for the Week" published in this section. Creamed chicken with savory seasoning is the principal item, and enough should be left to serve with a noodle ring for Monday's dinner.

But let someone else but mother prepare the dinner. It's no fun getting up your own party!

The tomato appetizer served as a first course for Sunday dinner is made from thin slices of raw tomato spread with deviled ham and garnished with slivers of hard-boiled egg. Buy a small can of deviled ham and use the rest in making some of the sandwiches for supper.

A sandwich supper is always good for Sunday night, especially if you have a number of persons for the meal. Use ham as mentioned with thin slices of cucumber; mashed shrimp seasoned with mayonnaise and served with lettuce; cream cheese mixed with crushed pineapple or any kind of jam. Other assortment of courses may be used, but this is one popular with both men and women. See that plenty of hot or cold beverage is available.

The ends from the asparagus make the soup for Monday; while the remainder of the chicken is minced and served in a noodle ring for dinner. To make ring, boil a package of fine noodles until tender in salted water. Drain, chop rather fine and mix with one and one-half cups milk, two tablespoons butter, salt and pepper to season, two tablespoons flour and two well-beaten eggs. Mix eggs with milk and stir into noodles. Let cook for a minute, then pour into a ring mold and place mold in a pan of hot water. Steam or bake for 20 minutes. Let stand for five minutes, turn out and fill with minced chicken.

Corn Chowder.
Cut one-fourth pound salt pork in small dice and fry to a golden brown in a deep kettle. Skim out pork and add one-half cup sliced onions to fat. Cover and cook slowly for five to eight minutes, but do not brown. When onions are tender, add a No. 2 size can of whole kernel corn, four cups diced potatoes, one and one-half teaspoons salt, one-fourth teaspoon pepper and four cups boiling water. Boil gently for 30 minutes, add two cups milk and reheat to boiling point. Thicken with two tablespoons flour mixed with a little cold water. Serve very hot with a little minced parsley sprinkled over each serving.

Fried Onion Rings.
Sift one cup flour with one-quarter teaspoon salt and one-half teaspoon baking powder. Beat one egg until foamy, add one-half cup milk and stir into the flour mixture. Beat until smooth and then stir in one teaspoon salad oil. Chill thoroughly. Peel a large sweet onion—Bermuda or Spanish—and cut across in very thin slices, keeping slices whole. Separate into rings and dip each ring in the batter. Drop at once into deep hot fat and fry to a golden brown. A fork is the most convenient to use for dipping the rings in the batter. If the fat until it will brown a piece of bread in one minute. Drain the fried onions on soft paper and serve hot.

Strawberry Blanc Manger.
Scald three cups milk. Mix one-half cup sugar with three tablespoons corn starch and when well blended, add three eggs and beat to a smooth cream. Add the scalded milk gradually, stirring it in, then return mixture to a saucepan and stir constantly over a slow fire until thickened and bubbly. Remove from the fire, add one-quarter teaspoon salt and one teaspoon strawberry extract. Pour into six small molds that have been oiled, or rinsed with cold water. Cool, then chill thoroughly. To serve, turn out onto individual serving dishes and surround with mashed, sweetened, ripe strawberries.

Savory Creamed Chicken.
Five-pound fowl, one cup chopped celery and leaves, one-half cup chopped onion, one-quarter green pepper, chopped, flour, one cup cream, one and one-quarter teaspoons salt, a few drops tobasco sauce.

Place fowl in a kettle on a rack, half filled with boiling water, cover, cook slowly until tender, and let stand in the broth overnight in a cold place. Skim fat from broth, remove chicken meat from bones, and cut it into uniform pieces. Return bones to broth and simmer for a short while so as to get off any small pieces of meat that cling to the bones.

Brown celery, onion and green pepper in four tablespoons of the fat removed from the chicken stock. Measure broth. There should be about one quart. For each cup of broth add two tablespoons of flour to the cream and mix until smooth. Add to chicken broth with salt and chicken stock until thickened. Add chicken and mix until well blended. Serve on crisp toast.

Sauced Fruit.
Apples, bananas and pineapple slices may be sauced and served with meats as delicious relish. Peel fruit, cut in slices, dip in lemon juice, then in melted butter, dust lightly with flour and saute in a little very hot fat in frying-pan.

NEW ASSEMBLY HALL IS INTERESTING MANY WOMEN

The new assembly hall of the home economics department of the City Ice and Fuel Company, 3640 Olive street, was opened recently and many women's clubs, church, school and fraternal organizations will meet there daily now.

A complimentary luncheon is served at 1:30, followed by a brief address by Miss Blanche Peterson, dietitian and hostess, who is a graduate of the University of Illinois and formerly taught home economics in the public schools of the city.

The afternoon is then free to the organizations to hold their business or social meetings. The hall is also open two evenings a week to organizations, with supper served before meetings.

Attractively furnished in green and orchid, with a model kitchen complete in every detail, the new community center will appeal to many women. A cooling system will make summer meetings there pleasant.

Mushroom Salad.
Peel, chill and cut four tomatoes in eighths, cut two cups string beans and one cup canned mushrooms in thin slices. Add to tomatoes and served with vinaigrette salad dressing.

BUTTER CAKE

One and one-half cups flour, one-half cup butter, one cup sugar, one-half cup milk, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one teaspoon vanilla, two teaspoons baking powder, two eggs.

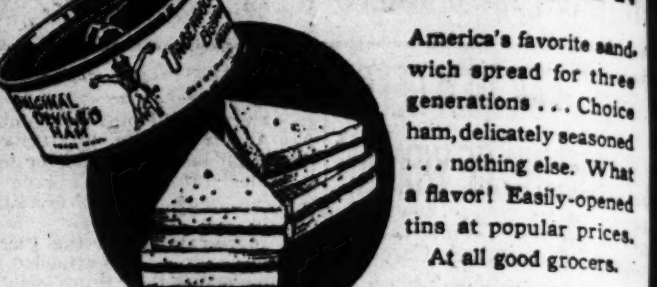

Cream butter, add sugar gradually, and cream well. Add two eggs yolks and beat until creamy. Add baking powder and salt to flour and sift. Add milk and flour alternately to mixture. Add flavoring. Fold in beaten egg whites. Place in well greased layer pans. Bake 20 minutes in moderate oven. Ice with boiled icing.

EMPT THE APPETITE WITH SAVORY CANAPES

Start the Family Dinner With Guest Feature.

Too often, it is only when guests come that little fancy touches are put on the meal. Just now, try a few on the family when some of them are a little hard to please.

One of the best-known food authorities recently said that unless food is eaten with relish and enjoyment it does not serve its best purpose, so tempting appetites really worth while.

Canapes offer unlimited possibilities in variety and originality, and are not often used to start dinner in the average household, so that they are useful in arousing interest in the meal. They are made from small pieces of bread, toasted or fried, and spread with highly seasoned or savory mixtures; crackers or small biscuits are sometimes used instead of bread.

Anchovy paste, bloater paste, sardines, crabmeat or lobster, hard-boiled eggs, cheese, minced or deviled ham and minced cooked liver are among the popular spreads; pimientos, green pepper, tiny pickled onions, olives, cream, minced parsley and slices of tomato are useful and attractive garnishes.

Keep canapes very small and serve an assortment if possible. Arranged on a plate with crisp radishes, "tulips" or "roses," tiny green scallions, and perhaps a few slices of lemon, they add much to the meal. Here are a few suggestions for canapes:

Anchovy Canapes.
Cut thin slices of bread in small rounds and toast to a delicate brown. Have ready anchovy paste and softened butter mixed in equal proportions. Spread toast with a generous layer on this. Make a border around edge of finely chopped egg yolks. Cut pimientos in narrow strips and cross two strips on each canape. Tuck a tiny sprig of cress in each of the sections made by the crossed pimientos.

BEEF AND TONGUE IN REFRIGERATOR MOLDS

Chicken and Crab Recipes Also Given for Warmer Weather Meals.

Not only for salads and desserts, but for meats, fish and chicken are the mechanical refrigerators valuable aids as warmer weather comes on.

A cold main dish is delicious now and then, especially if preceded by hot bouillon or soup.

Jellied Beef, Ham or Tongue
Soften one tablespoon gelatin in one-fourth cup water. Pour over steam and add to three-fourths cup mayonnaise. Combine this with one cup flaked crab meat, one-half cup minced celery, two tablespoons minced parsley, one-half cup chopped cucumber, two tablespoons minced stuffed olives, one-half teaspoon salt, dash of paprika and one tablespoon lemon juice. Transfer to mold rinsed in cold water. Place in refrigerator for two hours until firm.

Beef Loaf
Either beef or veal may be used for this. Heat one pint of bouillon and pour over two tablespoons gelatin which has been soaked in one-half cup cold water. Stir until dissolved. When it begins to set a little, add two cups cold chopped meat, one tablespoon chopped green pepper, one tablespoon chopped pimiento, one-half cup chopped celery and a little onion juice. Put in mold rinsed in cold water. Place in refrigerator until firm.

Jellied Tongue
Boil a tongue with three bay leaves, one sliced onion and a little salt for about three and one-half hours. Cool, skin. Chop three pounds fine. Chill broth in which tongue was cooked, remove fat. Put one and one-half pints broth, on cup condensed tomato soup, one and one-half tablespoons gelatin and one tablespoon lemon juice together, heating broth to dissolve gelatin. When ready to congeal, add tongue. Pour into mold, put in refrigerator until firm, unmold and cut in slices. Very good for sandwiches also.

Chicken Mousse
Soften one teaspoon gelatin in two tablespoons cold water and melt over steam. Combine with one cup mayonnaise and one and one-half cups whipped cream. Fold in one and one-half cups cold, diced cooked chicken, one-half cup minced celery, three-fourths cup minced almonds, three-fourths cup diced canned pineapple, one-fourth teaspoon salt, dash of paprika.

Ham Loaf
Dissolve one package lemon gelatin in one and three-fourths cups boiling water. Add two teaspoons vinegar, two teaspoons Worcestershire sauce, one-fourth teaspoon mustard, two cups cooked minced ham, two tablespoons mayonnaise, one tablespoon drained horseradish, one minced pimiento, one-half teaspoon onion pulp, dash of nutmeg, cayenne, salt and cloves. Turn into freezing tray of refrigerator, chill about an hour and a half. Unmold on platter and garnish with parsley.

MACARONI WITH VEGETABLES
One package macaroni, three cups white sauce, two cups cooked mixed vegetables, two hard boiled eggs, one teaspoonful minced parsley.
Cook the macaroni until tender. Drain thoroughly and add to it, one cup of sauce. In the remaining sauce, which should be well seasoned, heat the vegetables, using as large a variety as is convenient—peas, beans, carrots, young onions, asparagus, green pepper, etc.—dicing such vegetables as require it. Arrange macaroni as a border in a serving dish, pour the vegetables into the center and garnish with the egg whites, cut into rings, and the yolks, pressed through a sieve, and sprinkle minced parsley over all.

BATTER PUDDING

Mix and sift two cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder and one-half teaspoon salt. Add enough of one cup of milk to make a soft dough. Then stir in remainder of milk as lightly as possible. Grease baking cups and drop one tablespoon of batter in each.
Cover with strawberries or any other fruit. Sprinkle with sugar and cover with another tablespoon of batter. Steam 20 minutes and serve with cream and sugar.

PINEAPPLE SALAD DRESSING

Combine one tablespoon flour, three tablespoons sugar and one-fourth teaspoon salt in upper part of double boiler. Add two beaten egg yolks and four tablespoons of lemon juice.
When smooth add one-half cup canned pineapple juice. Cook until thick, stirring all the time. Take from fire, chill and finally add one cup whipped cream.

CHICKEN PATTIES

Two tablespoons butter, two tablespoons flour, one cup chicken stock, one-half teaspoon salt, few grains cayenne pepper, one cup cold diced chicken.
Melt butter in saucepan; stir in flour; add chicken stock; season and bring to a boil; add chicken and cook slowly five minutes. Fill patty shells and serve at once.

LEFT-OVER MEATS MAY BE APPETIZINGLY RE-SERVED

Left-over meat and mashed potatoes: Cover the bottom of a dish with hot mashed potatoes, add a thick layer of bits of roast beef, season well with salt, pepper and a little onion juice, and moisten with some of the gravy left over from the hot roast. Cover with a thin layer of mashed potatoes. Bake in a hot oven until well heated and the top is a good brown color.
Meat turnovers: Chop the meat. If the quantity on hand is small mix with it left-over potato or rice. Season with salt, pepper, onion, etc. Place filling on circular pieces of biscuit dough about the size of a saucer. Fold over the dough and crimp edges together. Bake for about one-half hour in a hot oven. A brown sauce made from two tablespoonsful flour browned in two tablespoonsful of butter or other fat, to which a cupful of water or stock and a half teaspoonful of salt is added, may be served with the turnovers.

Meat and breadcrumb cakes: To four parts of chopped or ground meat add one part of soaked breadcrumbs, a small quantity of chopped onion or onion juice, salt and pepper to taste. Mix and form into small round cakes. Brown the cakes in butter or other fat. Raw ground meat may be used. If so, the pan should be covered so that greater heat will be applied.

Use Pea Pods.
Cook a few pea pods in with the peas next time you have them. Three or four are enough to keep the peas sweet and impart a distinctive flavor. Cook peas just long enough to make them tender—about 20 minutes. Remove the pods before serving.

Cooks Who Care

Put EXTRA goodness into COLUMBIA Soups... in these remarkable Co-operative Kitchens

EXTRA Rich Broth, All Chicken Meat In This Chicken Soup
In this savory Columbia Chicken Soup, there is 100% chicken meat from our own freshly-killed poultry. Not a bit of beef (although the government permits the use of some beef in chicken soup). And the nourishing broth is extra rich, extra fine. The result is one of the most delicious chicken soups you have ever tasted. This same extra goodness is found in all Columbia Soups. Why?

Every Cook is an Equal Partner

Behind the added quality of 16 Columbia Soups lies a great adventure in Industrial Democracy. The kitchens in which these foods are prepared have been for a number of years completely controlled by the workers. Every cook is an equal part-owner and part-manager. There are no bosses. EVERY WORKER IS GUARANTEED AGAINST UNEMPLOYMENT—is guaranteed a living wage, full medical and dental attention, vacations with pay, and an old age pension. And remember, this is not an "experiment" but a large successful organization. All this is important to you because it takes more than machines to make good soup. It takes human interest and human skill. All Columbia Soups are made by cooks who are vitally interested in pleasing you. Thus you are guaranteed good soup by the Columbia label. Try it TODAY. If you don't taste the difference, your grocer is authorized to refund your money.

If you are interested in the Columbia Plan of INDUSTRIAL DEMOCRACY, write for FREE Booklet, "A Business Without a Boss." Columbia Conserves Co., Indianapolis, Indiana.

Try These Soups on This Money-Back Offer
Serve any of the 16 varieties of Columbia Soups TONIGHT! If you don't agree that it is the most delicious soup you have ever tasted, return the container, and your money will be refunded in full.

Special Attention Is Needed For the Children's May Meals

Child welfare experts warn mothers that this month is an important one in regard to their foods. Meals are changing from cold weather schedules to food suitable for warmer weather, and it is a rather uncertain, in-between time.

Children are likely to be "choosy" about their meals, and indifferent as to whether they eat much or not. It's up to the mother to see that they get wholesome, strengthening meals to offset the spring lassitude which often attacks youngsters as well as grown-ups.

Plenty of fresh vegetables and fruit, eggs which are so good and cheap now, a cereal in the morning, a little meat, and all the milk they can be persuaded to take, should take turns on their menus. If they don't like to drink much milk, give some to them in the form of custards, creamed soups and cream sauce on vegetables.

Fruit juices, dressed up, are good for the midday meal drink. Oranges rolled in rice or corn flakes will be a pleasant cereal variation, and spinach may be more tempting if served with a little lemon juice and yolk of hard-boiled eggs.

CARAMEL CUP CAKES

One cup sugar and one cup hot water, for caramel syrup, one-half cup butter, one and one-half cups sugar, two eggs, three cups sifted flour, four teaspoons baking powder, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one cup water.

Melt and brown cup of sugar very slowly in a smooth skillet, add cup of hot water, cook until a thick syrup is formed, and cool. Cream butter and sugar together.

Lemon Nog.
Beat together one cup of cold water, four tablespoons sugar, four tablespoons lemon juice, half teaspoon grated lemon rind and half cup evaporated milk. Serves two children.

Orange Nog.
Beat two egg yolks with half cup orange juice and two tablespoons sugar. Pour into two tall glasses. Beat whites of two eggs, stiff with two tablespoons sugar. Fold three-fourths of egg white into egg yolk mixture, add fresh milk to almost fill glasses. Stir well with spoon and top with remainder of egg white. Sprinkle with a little grated orange peel.

Spinach With Lemon.
Wash spinach thoroughly, steam over hot water until tender. Chop fine, season with salt, allow two heaping tablespoons for each serving. To this add hard-boiled eggs rubbed through ricer, a little melted butter and a half tablespoon of lemon juice. Garnish with slivers of hard-boiled eggs.

Orange Flakes.
Pare orange and separate in sections. Allow six to each serving. Dip in warm honey and turn over in rice or corn flakes until well covered.

add beaten egg yolks, and beat well. Sift together dry ingredients, add to the first mixture alternately with water and four tablespoons of the caramel syrup, and fold in beaten egg whites. Bake in greased muffin pans in a moderately hot oven 25 to 30 minutes and ice with caramel-flavored frosting.

Hot Rolls.
Cover the plate with a napkin before placing on the table, and when the second helping comes the rolls will still be hot.

MUSHROOMS BEGIN TO BE MORE POPULAR

More Generally Used in Many Recipes and Delicious Combinations.

It's interesting to see how much more general is the use of mushrooms than formerly, and to note that many women seem to be just aware of the varied possibilities.

In soups, gravies, with chicken, steak or spaghetti, or creamed and served on toast, mushrooms supply a touch of what one woman calls "restaurant grandeur," and means by that the different touch from every-day commonplace menus. Mushrooms have been used for many years, and are mainly valuable as a food because of their delicate, characteristic flavor. In composition they are made up of a large proportion of water, some vegetable protein and carbohydrate and a small amount of mineral matter. They deteriorate in flavor rather rapidly after picking, and for that reason should be used as soon as possible.

The commercial mushrooms are grown in mushroom cellars and are carefully cultivated, so that there is no danger of getting any but edible varieties. Do not attempt to pick mushrooms that are growing wild, unless you are absolutely sure you know what you are picking. Even then it may be best to leave them alone!

Canned mushrooms are excellent in flavor, as they are canned immediately after picking. Both domestic and imported varieties are to be found, and they are canned in several ways—whole mushroom caps, caps and stems and in several sizes. Dried mushrooms are much used by Chinese.

Creamed Mushrooms.
Rinse one-half pound medium-sized mushrooms with cold water, cut off the stems and peel the caps. Scrape the stems and cut them in quarters. Melt three tablespoons butter and add the mushrooms, caps and stems. Cover and cook very slowly for eight minutes, then stir in four tablespoons flour and when well blended add two cups milk. Continue stirring until thickened and smooth. Season with one teaspoon lemon juice, one-half teaspoon paprika, one teaspoon salt and two tablespoons minced parsley. Serve on toast.

Peach Cake.
Serve slices of canned peaches on Sponge cake, top with whipped cream in which a few chopped nuts have been mixed.

GLAZED CARROTS

Wash and scrape three bunches of young, tender carrots. Cook in boiling salted water for 10 minutes. Drain, cut in slices and return to pan with one tablespoon butter, one tablespoon brown sugar and half a pint of hot water in which a bouillon cube has been dissolved. Simmer until carrots are tender, add salt and pepper and cook rapidly until stock is almost evaporated. Sprinkle with one teaspoon minced parsley and serve on toast.

Uncooked Frosting.

Sift one and a half cups confectioner's sugar, moisten with water or fruit juice, and add half a teaspoon of any extract.

THE LITTLE GIRL WHO FOUND HER APPETITE

YESTERDAY at both breakfast and lunch, she only toyed with her food—so no wonder Mother was just a little concerned. But today, it's another story. Mother has found just the treat to tempt a young appetite. It's a big bowl of Kellogg's Rice Krispies and milk. And just see her dip right in with her spoon and enjoy every mouthful of that good, nourishing cereal.

It gives you a lot of satisfaction, doesn't it, to see your children enjoying their food? Well, just give them Kellogg's Rice Krispies. This different cereal fascinates youngsters. Crisp, delicious rice bubbles that actually snap, crackle and pop in milk or cream!

And Rice Krispies are one of the best of cereals for children. So tempting, nourishing, and easy to digest. Splendid for the evening meal—they do not overtax like many heavy foods, and so they encourage restful sleep.

You'll enjoy Rice Krispies for your own lunch—perhaps with fruits or honey added. Great for brightening breakfast.

Kellogg's Rice Krispies are made with scrupulous care. Spotless ovens. Gleaming machinery. Sunlit kitchens. No hands ever touch this cereal. And Rice Krispies are sealed in a protective WAXTITE bag which is placed inside the red-and-green package, and keeps every morsel oven-fresh. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Quality guaranteed.

A Logical Conclusion

Your want ad should be printed in the Post-Dispatch because the Post-Dispatch is read in far more homes in every district in St. Louis, daily or Sunday, than any other newspaper. Call MAin 1111—for an adtaker and have your wants filled.

DANDELION GREENS ARE SPRING TONICS

Humble Field Product Is Rich in Minerals and Good in Salads.

The wild dandelion is used in the spring when the plant begins to flourish and put out its new young leaves. The plant is now cultivated in some sections of the country and is even grown in hot houses between seasons.

Like all greens, dandelions are rich in minerals and have a large proportion of iron, which makes them such a good food for this time of year. Wild dandelions should be used before they develop flowers, as after blossoming they have a bitter flavor.

Boiled Dandelion Greens.
For cooking, pick over dandelions—young wild ones, or the cultivated variety, cut off root ends and remove any large leaves. Put cleaned dandelions in a cheesecloth bag or a wire basket (fine mesh) plunge into a large kettle of boiling water and boil for five minutes. This blanches the vegetable and removes some of the bitterest flavor. Drain, cover with fresh boiling water and cook for about 20 minutes. Drain, chop fine and season as desired.

Dandelion Salad.
Pick over, wash and drain young tender dandelion leaves—one pound for four to six servings. Put in a cheesecloth bag and chill for several hours to crisp them. Rub a salad bowl with a cut clove of garlic, add chilled dandelion leaves and pour over them a third cup French dressing over them. Sprinkle with one-half cup crisp, cooked, chopped bacon. Toss and serve at once. Hard boiled egg may be used for garnish or

Dandelion Greens ARE SPRING TONICS

Humble Field Product Is Rich in Minerals and Good in Salads.

Like all greens, dandelions are rich in minerals and have a large proportion of iron, which makes them such a good food for this time of year.

Wild dandelions should be used before they develop flowers, as after blossoming they have a bitter flavor.

Boiled Dandelion Greens. For cooking, pick over dandelions—young wild ones, or the cultivated variety, cut off root ends and remove any large leaves. Put cleaned dandelions in a cheese-cloth bag or a wire basket (fine mesh) plunge into a large kettle of boiling water and boil for five minutes. This blanches the vegetable and removes some of the bitterest flavor. Drain, cover with fresh boiling water and cook for about 20 minutes. Drain, chop fine and season as desired.

Dandelion Salad. Pick over, wash and drain young, tender dandelion leaves—one pound for four to six servings. Put in a cheese-cloth bag and chill for several hours to crisp them. Rub a salad bowl with a cut clove of garlic, add chilled dandelion leaves and pour one-third cup French dressing over them. Sprinkle with one-half cup crisp, cooked, chopped bacon. Toss and serve at once. Hard boiled egg may be used for garnish or sprinkled over the salad with the bacon.

Dandelion Greens and Rice. Pick over, and prepare two pounds dandelion greens as for boiled greens according to recipe given above. Chop fine when done, and arrange in a mound on a deep, hot platter. Surround with tiny mounds of boiled rice prepared as follows: Boil one cup rice until tender in salted water, drain, season with salt, pepper and butter and add two well beaten eggs. Pack into small greased timbale molds or into any small molds and bake for five minutes. Turn out around the dandelion greens and surround with cheese sauce. This makes a good luncheon dish or a main dish for a vegetable dinner.

Avocado Canape. Arrange a slice of firm tomato on each slice of toast. Cut the size of the tomato slices. Cut balls from a ripe avocado, or alligator pear, using a small vegetable cutter. Pile three or four of these on each slice of tomato. Scrape remaining avocado pulp out and mash with a fork. Season with fresh lime juice and pipe this with a pastry tube around the edge of the tomato. Mix one teaspoon each of chili sauce, catsup and grated horseradish and spread a little of this over the avocado balls just before serving.

ICE CREAM NOVELTIES FOR SUMMER PARTIES

Many Variations Possible and Pleasing Combinations Will Be Welcomed.

It's a long way from Alexander the Great who is said to have surprised his guests at a feast with fruit ices frozen in snow, but the subject is still an interesting one, and happy the woman who is able to inject novelty into the serving of ices and ice creams today.

With the following recipes, the ice cream or ices may be either made at home or purchased. It's the "trimmings" that are important.

Piombiere Glace. Buy little crimped paper cases and allow one for each serving. Half fill each one with vanilla ice cream, pressing it down firmly. Sprinkle with a thick layer of maroons glaces cut in pieces and soaked for half an hour in the juice from maraschino cherries.

Cover with a second layer of ice cream, sprinkle with powdered macaroons or with grated chocolate, and press a large maraschino cherry in the top of each serving. One quart of vanilla ice cream, a small jar of maroons glaces (which are preserved French chestnuts) and a small bottle of cherries will make eight to 10 servings.

Bar Le Duc and Orange Ice. Bar le duc with orange ice is as delicious as it is unusual. Get a quart brick of orange ice in squares and place in individual serving dishes. Spread a layer of red or white bar le duc (fancy preserved currants) over each serving, top with a spoonful of whipped cream and sprinkle with shredded pistachio nuts. One quart of ice serves six.

Strawberry Frozen Pudding. Mash one quart of ripe strawberries, add one tablespoon lemon juice and one and one-half cups sugar and let stand for several hours at room temperature. Squeeze through cheesecloth to extract all juice. Pour juice into a three-pint melon mold, put a quart of vanilla ice cream in the center, cover, seal edges and pack in crushed ice and salt (equal parts) for two hours. Or put juice in a deep refrigerator pan, add the ice cream and freeze in a mechanical refrigerator for six hours until firm. Raspberry juice may be used in the same way. Serves six.

Pear Surprise. Cut a brick of pineapple ice or vanilla ice cream in thin slices and place half a canned pear on each slice. Cover the pear completely with whipped cream and sprinkle thickly with grated nuts. Serves six.

Pineapple Delight. Have ready eight chilled parfait

or sherbet glasses and put a large spoonful of crushed pineapple in each. Add a maraschino cherry and fill glasses with vanilla ice cream. Pour a tablespoonful of chocolate syrup on top. Garnish with a large marshmallow or with chopped nuts. Have all the ingredients ready to use before beginning to fill the glasses.

Frozen Salads. If you are lucky enough to have an automatic refrigerator, serve frozen salads often, especially as warmer weather comes on.

SUGAR IS IMPORTANT IN SUMMER COOKERY

Fancy Bread, Tomato, Sandwich Filling and Tart Recipes Given.

As summer comes on, sugar is a large item in the food budget, for fresh fruit and berries, preserving, canning and summer desserts demand large supplies. Vegetables too, in some recipes are enhanced by the addition of sugar.

A granulated sugar with a combined table and cooking value which is fine-grained and quick dissolving may be used in many varied recipes.

Orange Bread. Beat three eggs well. Add one cup sugar and two tablespoons softened butter. Sift three cups flour with four teaspoons baking powder and a little salt. Add to mixture alternately with one cup milk. Add one cup candied orange peel cut very fine. Bake in moderate oven.

Laboratory discoveries prove value of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Here's why ALL-BRAN belongs on your table

IN THE past few months, many new scientific findings indicate that ALL-BRAN is a valuable addition to the daily diet. These laboratory investigations show that ALL-BRAN is an important source of two things needed to overcome constipation. "Bulk" to exercise the intestines. Vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract. (You will be interested in reading some of the results of these tests in the panel on the right.)

"Bulk" and vitamin B will help protect you from constipation and its effects—the headaches, the loss of energy, the poor appetite, the sleeplessness, the backaches, the wrinkles that so frequently result.

Now, in Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, you have both "bulk" and vitamin B in one delicious cereal. The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in lettuce. Within the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

Moreover, ALL-BRAN furnishes iron for the blood. Tests prove that this famous health-cereal provides twice as much assimilable iron as an equal amount by weight of beef liver.

Isn't it much pleasanter to enjoy this appetizing cereal than to risk taking pills and drugs—so often harmful and habit-forming?

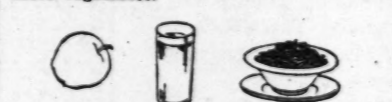

Try two tablespoonfuls daily—usually sufficient to overcome most types of constipation. If you suffer from a severe intestinal trouble, we suggest you consult your physician.

Special cooking and flavoring processes make ALL-BRAN particularly healthful. Tempting recipes on the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

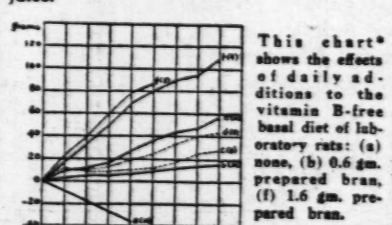

Here are some of the results of recent laboratory investigations of bran

The Bulk in Bran
Laboratory tests show the "bulk" in bran is much like that in leafy vegetables. It may be eaten by most persons who can eat these vegetables.

Vitamin B in Bran
One ounce of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN contains 45 vitamin B units, as much as that in one very large apple or 5 ounces of orange juice.

Iron in Bran
Tests show bran provides twice as much blood-building iron as an equal amount by weight of beef liver.

SUBSTANTIAL RALLY IN THE U. S. BONDS

NEW YORK, May 10.—Government bonds traded in United States corporate groups today indicated in various places recording gains of as much as 10 to 15 points. The utilities and industrials were not far behind. The carriers list was not particularly affected by the attempted assassination of President Doumer of France, although the French 7s and 7½s dropped more than 10 points following unconfirmed reports of his death.

The Wrong Wife

by Arthur Somers Roche

CHAPTER SEVENTEEN.

MISS SEARLES pulled herself together with great difficulty. She took out a dictation pad and propped it on her knees. For an hour and a half Cordova, referring to papers, dictated. Then, as he finished, Deborah knocked on his door and was admitted by Miss Searles.

She had on a light town frock this morning, summery and sweet, and she seemed, even to the unhappy Cordova, fragrant and delicious. As for Miss Searles, she gasped and turned frankly to Cordova.

"But you're lucky," she said.

Cordova managed to laugh.

"Deborah, this is my secretary,"

and very good friend, Miss Searles.

She—and another friend of mine—

are going to lunch with us and attend our marriage."

"Will—and I hope—she had repaired

Deborah's color. She smiled shyly

at Miss Searles.

"I think that's nice," she said.

Cordova, watching Miss Searles'

open admiration, felt a queer feeling of pride. He crushed it from him. At least, he told himself bitterly. It was as well that the girl who opened the wrong letter

had a decent amount of charm.

She had plenty. She was not nearly as obviously beautiful as

Del, but Cordova noticed that in the corridors and elevators, men

cast appraising and approving glances at the fresh youth of the girl he was going to marry.

In a taxi, on their way uptown,

Cordova gave Deborah the ring.

She gasped with sheer delight at its size and beauty.

"You're rich, Dick," she said.

His thoughts were quickly suspicious.

"But you knew that, didn't you?"

"Yes, I suppose so. But it didn't mean anything. I mean—this ring

—I'm rich, too, Dick. I never want any allowance—or anything."

"I insist upon your having one,"

he laughed.

"I've $50,000 a year all my own."

she said. Uncle gave me it on my 15th birthday."

"I'll borrow it when I'm hard

up," he said.

She looked at him gravely.

"I wish you'd be hard up right

now. It would be wonderful to give you something you had to have."

Touched, he patted her hand.

And then, because she turned to ward him, leaned against him, he kissed her quickly, and hated himself because her kiss was delightful.

Grady and Miss Searles were waiting for them in the tiny lobby

of the Colony, and a head waiter

ushered Cordova's party instantly

to a table. Gratings assailed Cor-ordova. Milly Cragin detained him a moment.

"THOUGHT Minna Dupres-

would do better than she did,

Dick," she laughed.

"She's a beauty," he said. "We razed her terribly. A man-killer, eh? But you're no man. You're an anchorite."

"I'll make you eat them words

some day, Milly," he laughed.

"Who's the beauty?" asked

Milly in a whisper. "I think I've seen her somewhere."

"Deborah Carmichael," he replied. "The Senator's niece."

"Is she in town for a while? Can you bring her out to spend a weekend? She's lovely. I hate the blonde crowd of hers, though. A calculating kitten."

"You're out of your mind, Milly,"

he said hotly.

"Blow the wind there?" she asked. "Then I'm out of my mind.

Still, this one is the one I want."

"Then I'll bring her," he promised.

The head waiter had led the others to the table Cordova, feeling that he had been rude in permitting himself to be detained, hurried to join them.

It was a merry meal, and Cor-ordova, agitated though there was in his heart, found himself laughing again and again at Grady's

gayeties. Well, condemned men laughed on their way to the death

chamber, he had been told.

They all rode together to the church. Before Cordova quite realized it the ceremony had begun.

Sudden tenderness welled up within him. The girl had made a frivolous mistake. But he had tried to cover up her mistake. So he helped him. He would never let her

know that she had forced herself unwanted, upon him. He would be tender, gentle, kindly, considerate

—and loving if he could.

"And now you may kiss your bride: it's quite customary," he heard Grady saying.

He put his arms about Deborah.

Her lips were offered to him. She was his wife and he was kissing

her—kissing the wrong wife.

Grady and Miss Searles—that young woman was in a state of teary excitement that made Deborah's calm seem more pronounced.

Bade them good-by at the rectory door. As they walked off—

there was no taxi for them in sight—Cordova noticed that his secretary walked near to Grady,

and her pretty figure swayed close with every step. She would soon,

he thought, forget her aversion to an occupation that kept a man

out late at night.

Their beaming taximan held the door of the car open for them,"

he asked.

DEBORAH's face, that had been white, went suddenly crimson.

Cordova felt himself coloring,

too. He gave, without thinking,

his apartment address, and followed his bride into the cab.

"Do they?" she asked.

"When the walls shake with my trick," he said. She laughed nervously. "Why must women cry

when they're happy?"

"Why must men curse when they're sympathetic?" he countered.

"Do they?" she asked.

"When the walls shake with my

trick," he said.

When the walls shake with my

trick," he said.

When the walls shake with my

trick," he said.

When the walls shake with my

trick," he said.

When the walls shake with my

trick," he said.

When the walls shake with my

trick," he said.

When the walls shake with my

trick," he said.

When the walls shake with my

trick," he said.

When the walls shake with my

trick," he said.

FOR the GIRL GRADUATE

—By—

MARGUERITE MARTYN

THEME for the sweet girl graduate to be thinking of what to wear on that momentous commencement day.

Unless your school authorities

dictate what all must wear or unless the girls of a class get together and agree upon a uniform,

there is a wide limit this year in choice of materials and modes.

Just a few materials suggested

by a stylist in a department store

shop specializing in co-ed clothes

are organdie—plain, eyelet

worked, embroidered or shadow

printed—net—both silk and cotton—mousseline de sole, crepe,

chiffon, voile and dotted swiss.

As to the manner of construction, something depends upon

whether it is high school, grammar school, prep school or college you are quitting. Skirt

length is of first consideration.

Grammar and high school girls

probably will decide in favor of a length at mid-calf or just a little longer while older girls no doubt will embrace the opportunity to wear the newer ankle-

length skirts with an eye to futuring wear later on.

Another consideration is the scene of the commencement exercises. Many private schools set in their own grounds stage the ceremonies out of doors where,

against the background of green

lawns and foliage, diaphanous

materials and fluffy lines have the best opportunity to display themselves. The question of time may dictate somewhat

whether sleeves or gloves or neither shall be worn.

The time, the place, and the girls being disposed of, the rest is a matter of details and style.

Suggested in these sketches are some of the details by which graduation gowns may be varied and some of the essentials which stamp the present mode. Most noteworthy is the departure from the straight lines of the sports

modes that have so long pre-valled. Everything suggested by this stylist for the graduate was built on fluffy, frilly, feminine lines. Skirts hugged the hips and were fitted almost to the knees

but flared voluminously at the hem line, the flare often emphasized by circular flounces with added ruffles and pleatings. Of special interest, too, was the instance upon wide shoulder line,

usually accomplished by puffed

sleeves, berthaes, capelets or sleeves extended raglan fashion.

Of silk net the fifth frock, the skirt appliqued with pastel-

shaded chiffon flowers, the sash

repeating two shades of the flowers. The last frock, also of silk

net, is made very frilly with pleated ruffles shirred in the middle set in three rows at the top of a circular flounce which is

edged with two rows of the frill-

ing. The detachable capelet, similarly trimmed with frilling, fastens on one shoulder.

Where a gown was sleeveless it often was accompanied by a little separate jacket or capelet, very practical since they give a gown

a double duty value, wearable as afternoon or evening frocks, and in case a cap and gown is required, the jacket or wide shoulder effect may be left off to preserve a smooth foundation.

Of white chiffon the first frock pictured, pleated circular

ruffles edging the draped

bertha and three of them added to the flared bias cut skirt. Of crinkly crepe the next gown made with draped neckline caught with a clip, diagonally cut flaring skirt

If you ask My Opinion

Martha Carr

MY DEAR MRS. CARR: I am coming to you for your opinion because I have found success here before. I am very much interested in your column. His mother will not let us go together because I am of another nationality. My parents do not care very much for him, either. It is on the best. His sister, though, is my best girl friend.

I went to call on the girl the other afternoon, and when I left the back way. The next day I went again and the mother said, "My son and daughter are out," and slammed the door in my face. Mrs. Carr, this broke my heart. I will apologize. I am only 16 years old. Do you think that has anything to do with it?

JUST GUILTY IN LOVE.

It is very foolish to cry over something you have deliberately brought on yourself. Both you and the boy knew very well that by going in, when you found him there alone, you would subject yourself to criticism. And knowing how his mother feels about the whole thing, you should have had the good sense to invite further trouble. After this, better let the girl come to your house and not go over and put your head in a noose. There are, evidently, other objections to you that this mother may have—your lack of judgment and self-respect.

MY DEAR MRS. CARR: I am a young girl and I get along with every boy but one. I like him very much, but he is so crazy that I am with him because I think he is the only one who likes me. I am being friendly when I think he likes her. And he is funny-looking, too. While I can hardly say he is near, I act so crazy away from him. I wish I could find a way. How can I make him like me?

DOT.

I am afraid you are pretty severely nipped with what is known, indegantly, as "Puppy Love." But it isn't fatal. Try to remember how you would act if he were your brother or one of the other girls. There are just dozens of boys like him—though you may not think so. Make up your mind to wait for him to notice you. He is much more likely to do so, if you do not put on any high heels to attract him. Give him time! Learn how to do something very well; dance, play tennis, swim.

MY DEAR MRS. CARR: I am 19 years old and have been seeing a lot of a girl 16, who lives near me. She is a very sweet, pretty and kind girl, but sometimes she says things to hurt you, purposely. She has 100 per cent personality, which I think will be her downfall. She thinks that she is the last word, although she pretends that she is ignorant of the fact that she is very beautiful. She hates baseball and football because I always talk about them when she is angry, but always comes back for me. She tries to make me jealous, but I only react in an indifferent manner to her aspersions. But when I am with her I am not the least bit indifferent. She always wants her way, and it is a known fact that she is a spoiled child. She wants everyone to be her friend, but nothing more. She claims that love will spoil friendship. Is she right? I don't know whether to try and forget her completely or keep on like we are. What should I do? J. H. W.

Now here is the other side: No, she will not bring you peace of mind. If you felt that, you would not care for her (man-like); you'd be hunting for a girl to make you suffer. The best medicine for her is to take her at her word; be very kind and friendly and claim that she has convinced you. Then if she moans over another girl where she is, you can see and will she love friendship? She will not.

MY DEAR MRS. CARR: I read your column with untiring interest, and from time to time have noticed letters from young people, strangers in St. Louis, who are anxious to make social contacts. I wonder if you would invite them to visit the Soldiers' class of Giddings Presbyterian Church, Sarah and Washington Boulevard. It is a group of young men and women organized for friendship as well as for interesting and unusual discussion and meets at 10 o'clock every Sunday morning.

Letters intended for this column must be addressed to Martha Carr at the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Mrs. Carr will answer all questions of general interest but, of course, cannot give advice on matters of a purely legal or medical nature. Those who do not care to have their letters published may enclose an addressed and stamped envelope for a personal reply.

I can promise a cordial welcome to everyone who will come.

H. M., Secretary.

MY DEAR MRS. CARR: I think if each person could bear her own trouble with closed lips, the world would be better off. But sometimes the load is almost too heavy to carry alone.

Four years ago I met a man I liked very much. He was allowed to come to see me only once a week and then my parents sat up until 10 and in a few moments called out to me that it was time to go to bed. So I had little chance to become really well acquainted with this man. We were married and moved to a distant town, where I gave up my job to keep house. After very queer actions I learned that my husband had the mind of a 14-year-old child. I was always embarrassed by him when we were invited out, as everyone made fun of him. After three years I explained to his mother, whom I liked so much, and left and went home. But now, Mrs. Carr, my parents are the same. They don't want me out of their sight. My old position is filled and it seems I can find no work. My parents are good but do not understand, and if I were to go out without their permission, they would not let me come home. I am so lonesome. Any advice or encouragement would be appreciated.

LONESOME.

You probably are old enough now to have learned that there are seldom to be found any ideal places or conditions. Adaptability is necessary everywhere, in order to be satisfied when things are not exactly suited to your taste. But you are old enough, too, to make your own life now and should lose no time trying to find a job that will support you. Possibly if you announce, when you can be independent, that you would like to remain with them and work, but that you are older and must have more freedom, they will agree to be less strict.

MY DEAR MRS. CARR: Will you please tell me the date of Mother's Day?

D. E. N.

Shame on you! It's the second Sunday in May, which, this year is the eighth. (I just looked it up myself.)

Suicides

THOUGH some races have made a virtue of suicide, most civilized peoples have looked upon self-destruction as something horrible. The act is so deeply contrary to the ingrained drive of all living things for self-preservation, that it must be regarded as evidence of a diseased mind and of a deeply disturbed spirit.

And yet very few suicides are the consequence of true insanity. Most of the men and women who take their own lives appear to be the victims not of insanity but of an overwhelming disgust with life and of a paralyzing inability to cope with its problems.

Not a few among suicides appear to be easily subject to suggestion, for styles in committing suicide appear to be in vogue from time to time.

Let the public hear of any new method for self-destruction and within a short time there will be other such cases.

It is for this reason, in part, that suicide is considered by many as a mentally infectious disease.

If it be such, then too, by implication, it ought to be preventable, and the fact is that there are a number of organizations existing whose sole purpose is to prevent would-be victims from destroying themselves.

A common feature in this "mentally infectious disease" is the depression shown by the affected person.

This, together with an interest in the methods of self-destruction, and possibly too, the threat or simple statement that suicide is contemplated, should serve as a warning.

The cure of would-be suicides is essentially a psychiatric matter. Often, however, it involves isolation of the individual from his family, physical rest, and social and industrial rehabilitation.

Suicide is not a fit subject for conversation in the presence of the young. To glorify or condone it, is an invitation to disaster, a fact now widely recognized.

Compromise Measure Expected to Be Reported to Committee Monday—General Sales Tax Row Laid Aside.

INCOME SCHEDULE NOW HAS 45 PCT. TO

Reduction of 10 Pct. Made on Mills' Insistence — 8 Pct. Levy on Bonus Payments to Corporation Executives.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, May 7. — The compromise tax bill of the Senate Finance Committee is picking up strong bipartisan support and a parently faces prompt action in the Senate. Even the controversy over the general sales tax has been laid aside by a gentlemen's agreement to speed the compromise measure.

Senator Reed (Rep.), Pennsylvania, a staunch advocate of the controversial sales levy, entered an agreement in the committee yesterday with the opponents of the sales tax not to press for this substitute if the compromise plan offered by Secretary of the Treasury Mills were accepted. It was a move solely in the interest of ending the series of committee reversals on rates. Reed agreed that he would not personally offer the general sales tax on the Senate floor but he reserved the right to talk for and vote for the sales levy if it were offered.

To Be Reported Monday. The Finance Committee took to day off after two weeks of work on the bill. Adoption of the compromise bill, which was thought to have ended the work except for a formal report on Monday.

Secretary of the Treasury Mills figured the bill would yield $1,000,000, exclusive of the tariff items, which are expected by him to develop about $7,000,000 revenue.

On Mills' insistence, the committee revised its surtax rates to make the scale culminate in a top rate of 45 per cent on income in excess of $1,000,000 a year. Instead of the 50 per cent rate adopted yesterday in addition, it abolished the penalty for corporations making consolidated returns, and authorized corporations to carry over losses for a period of one year in making deductions.

Normal Rates Readjusted. Although the Secretary expressed himself as satisfied with the increase voted yesterday in the normal income tax rate—namely, 4 per cent on the first $4000 of net income and 8 per cent on all above that amount—the committee decided, after reducing the surtax rates, to make a slight adjustment in the normal rates. Accordingly, it settled on 3 per cent for the first $4000, 6 per cent for the next $4000 and 9 per cent for all above that.

Moreover, the committee voted to retain the present 25 per cent deduction for earned income. Such the House had reduced to 12 1/2 per cent. On the other hand, drastic increases were made in the rates on automobiles, trucks, accessories, lubricating oil, malt and wort, and the exemption on the admission tax was reduced to 10 cents. The so-called "luxury taxes" on jewelry, furs, toilet articles, boats, mechanical refrigerators, firearms, sporting goods, cameras, matches, and drinks and safe deposit boxes were eliminated from the bill, as was the tax on produce exchange transactions.

Taxing of Wort and Malt. The bill now provides for the taxing of wort at the rate of 15 cents a gallon, malt syrup at 5 cents a pound and grape concentrate at 20 cents a gallon. These levies are expected to yield a total of $17,000,000 a year. It was estimated that the lowering of the exemption on admission taxes to 10 cents, with a flat rate of 10 per cent above that level would provide for $110,000,000 more revenue. By an 8-to-7 vote, the committee added a provision to the bill imposing a tax of 49 per cent on bonus salary payments to corporation executives. The proposal was sponsored by Senator Gore (Dem.) of Oklahoma. It was decided to have banks collect from accounts the 2-cent charge on bank checks.
